1. BACKGROUND OF THE COMPANY

1.1 Introduction

From ICT to energy ADN group serves the breath of technology industry, achieving efficiency and operational excellence in every sphere. ADN group is driven to introduce and utilize next generation technologies. Maximize disruptive innovation and established network advancement delivering value to the way enterprise operate.

ADN stand for advance data network. It has been established back to 2003. However ADN Telecom Ltd, the leading ISP, MPLS, IPLC, and IP Telephony service provider in Bangladesh, initiated its glorious journey back in 2003. It is one of the major sister concerns of “ADN Group” along with ADN Technologies Ltd, Tech Valley Networks Ltd (TVNL), InGen Technologies Ltd, ADN EduServices Ltd and ADN digital.

Today ADN telecom has well name as a leading IT and telecommunication service provider in Bangladesh offering a wide range of data, voice and internet services to its local and international clients. ADN telecom limited owns the most divers access network in the country consisting of wireless, fiber optic and satellite infrastructures. However, as a leading global telecom operators and telecom ltd is enabling to provide end to end solutions to their customers. ADN Telecom is poised to serve enterprise seeking to use cloud, data center and IOT platforms for the digital business initiatives.

However, ADN Digital proposed subsidiary of ADN group, has formed as the digital business unit under and telecom ltd, Now it is aiming to introduce itself as a digital service providing SBU of ADN group. However, ADN Digital has recently introduced some product and services. Moreover the ADN Digital marketing is also working for their new product development. One of the new products of ADN digital is the ADN Email. For introducing the new product and for the development for the new product ADN digital maintain a specific plan, which is actually leaded to success of their company.
1.2 Objectives

According to the topic, I have included some core objective of this report, the core objectives of this report is given below:

✓ How they introduced their new product
✓ How they follow the digital marketing tools for developing their new product and services
✓ How they implement their plan to promote their product and services.

1.3 Scope of the research

The exploration is done inside the timetable of the Internship. From the exploration I have picked up the reasonable learning of the digital marketing procedures. Chiefly I have picked up information about how they present new products and services by utilizing the digital marketing apparatuses in their organization and how they actualize their digital marketing plan for building up the new product. In addition I have likewise increased some information of how they function for their individual client as indicated by their need. By working here as per my obligations and duties I got the thoughts of how the genuine function is done at the ADN Digital. Other than I can coordinate the hypotheses of the book with the reasonable life. In book I have learnt the well-ordered procedure of new product development methodologies. Like traditional marketing there are likewise numerous special exercises in digital marketing. So I have included some special exercises of their organization that they are improving the situation presenting their new product and services. Also from here I became acquainted about the social media marketing, content marketing, competitor analyzing, search engine optimization, data entry and so on.
1.4 Limitation of the research

Having lots of scope learning at and digital, there are also some limitations I have faced during my Internship. The limitations are given below:

✓ Information accumulation

One of the real issues isn't getting enough data about the organization. As a few information is confined for sharing outside of the organization. So the representatives have shared little data about the organization. Also representatives are excessively caught up with, making it impossible to share data as they have parcel of other work weight.

✓ Confinement from higher expert

Another issue is that, I didn't get the authorization to incorporate all the data in my report. Besides, email advertising is new item so I didn't get enough data from their site. So it was extreme for me to gather information.

✓ Fewer wellsprings of data

On the other I didn't get data from any sort of article, daily paper, and magazine as they have propelled the item couple of weeks back.

Fundamentally the wellspring of getting information is restricted that is the reason I have information just from the workplace.
1.5 Methodology

My aim is to find out how and digital introduced their new product and how they implement their plan for developing their new product which is email marketing. To explore for my report I have picked Practical Research Method. In this strategy I have taken some interview and have gathered information from my obligations and duties. Some data is taken from the organization profile, magazine, and newsletter. I have included some important parts of ADN Digital. The parts are given below

✓ About the company
✓ About ADN digital ltd
✓ My duties and responsibilities at and digital ltd
✓ New product development
✓ SWOT analysis of ADN Digital
✓ Major finding
✓ Recommendation
✓ Conclusion

Based on those parts basically I have collected the information. For every one of the factor I have influenced 3 to 5 to questions and took met for some individual

The name of interviewed person and their designation is given below.

4. HOW ADN DIGITAL INTRODUCED THEIR NEW PRODUCT AND HOW THEY IMPLEMENT ITS PLAN FOR THE NEW PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

Email marketing is the new product of ADN Digital. They are now working for introducing their new product which is email marketing. For introducing their new product they have done various things which can be divided in two parts. one is planning stage another one is implementing stage. In those two parts they did many things. They have made a plan for introducing their new product. However the main factors that they covers the two parts of the Product development stages are given below.

5.1 Planning stage

5.1.1 Business Strategy Development or Review

Basically they have followed the business strategy like they have test the product with their strategy whether the product goes with their strategy or not. They have made the new service development strategy by following their organization goals, mission, vision and capabilities. They have also tested how much the product is effective for their customer. However, they able to know that email marketing is another helpful digital marketing tools for any types of business. According to the market research, there is a need of email marketing in the market as everyone is focusing on digital marketing rather than the traditional marketing. In this stage they also reviewed the product. While reviewing the product they develop many kinds of training, grooming session for their employee which basically leads to product development.

5.1.2 New Service Strategy Development

For developing the new product every organization should create specific plan for the new product. However ADN Digital also maintain a specific planning program. First of all they have divided the team. Because without the team building they will not able to finish the work. So in their company they have specific team who are actually working for the email marketing. In their team they also divided their work. Like who should work on which part. As a result each and everyone know about the work progress. However it also helps their employees to specialist in particular work. Moreover, their employees are also able to maintain the daily work flow. Even they can also maintain their chain of command. In that situation, every company should maintain the specific time period. If they are not able to maintain the time period they will not able to launch the product at a specific time. By maintain the time period they will able to give right solution at a right time to their employees. Along with all those things ADN Digital also plan for expenses. They are maintaining the expanses for the development of product. They have their proper costing plan for their new product. Basically they have proper financial planning. They have properly estimated in which sector they should need money for which types of work. However in this stage three things are mainly important. The three things are given below:

- Team
- Costing
- Time

5.1.3 Idea Generation
In this stage people basically do the team building. AND Digital also build their team for email marketing. So In that third stage they actually know about their team, members work and their responsibilities. So in that stage they also did the idea generating process. They have also generated their ideas among them. However, they have chosen the best idea for introducing their new product which is email marketing lastly in this sage they have generated all the idea from each employees for example what kinds of offer they will provide to their customer.

5.1.4 Concept Development and Evaluation
After generating the idea, in the fourth stage they basically determined that what types of media they will cover for introducing their product. However, they generate the 360 media planning. They also choose the rainfall technique. They also determined the SEO ranking tools. In addition with that by choosing the best idea they also able to know that how they attract newer customer for the new product

5.1.5 Business Analysis
Business analysis is the last step of planning program. However, they are actually determined their whole business plan, which is help them to keep forwarding their business. In this last stage they actually know about the whole process of introducing the new product. In that stage they basically planed for email marketing. For example they know where, when and how should they promote their product. For the better service they have launched email marketing website.

5.2 Implementation stage

5.2.1 Creating Document
According to the company law they should keep proper documentation for their introducing their new product. However and digital have the proper documentation for email marketing. They have the license to do their business.

5.2.2 Testing the Product
Basically ADN Digital have already launched email marketing. They have their own website. They have given all the details for each criterion. It helps people for getting specific information from their website. They also mentioned about some offers. This will also help to their customer. Actually they have launched this website as a testing period. They want to know how customers are appreciating their products so that they can improve it more.

5.2.3 Full Scale Launching
Actually they have launched the Email Marketing at a full scale. They already give all details at their website. They also have mentioned the pricing plan for specific types of business. As they have already launched email marketing so after getting feedback from the customer they will improve more for their product.

5.2.4 Consumer Research
In that last stage they are basically focusing on the customer research. Basically they are doing meeting, training and learning session for their customer. On those learning session they are taking feedback from their customer. They are also giving information to their customer. However, by the consumer research they are able to know about the demand of their customer. Moreover they are emphasizing on individual work. They are also submitting customized quotation for their clients. As a result they are getting specific feedback from individual customers. In this sage they also evaluate the service. If they get negative results they will take another better solution to their customer. So by evaluating their whole business plan they can implement the best plan for introducing their new product. However, they are now evaluating their latest product which is email marketing.

5. MY ACTIVITIES RESPONSIBILITIES AND ACCOUNTABILITIES

During my internship period had to do various kinds of activities. The activities are given below.

6.1 SEO (Search Engine Optimization)

One of the work that I have done during my internship is the off page optimization. Basically I have done the off page optimizations for email marketing, which give appropriate result at specific time. Before working on that I was not aware about the off page optimization, but now I can do the off page optimization for any kinds of products.

6.2 Content writing

7. RECOMMENDATION

✓ Proper marketing research is necessary before introducing a new brand. Sure focus group discussion can give some important information, but appropriate research is very important. Although digital marketing team has a dedicated research department under marketing department, only few members are involved. So they should build up business research team.

✓ Though email marketing started its journey as a sophisticated brand, lack of innovation makes it hard to expand its popularity.

✓ Brand consciousness should be created regardless of target customers. This is because the more consumers will come to know about the value of the products, the more potential customers will feel interested to buy those products to uphold their social status.

✓ Segment based promotion should be done in an extensive way.

✓ There should be a separate service care for the email marketing.

✓ Motivate employees so that they can bring better result. They can add more innovative idea for email marketing.

✓ It will be beneficial if they introduce fresh ideas into the designing section. Though existing designers are quite capable new thoughts can make it more sophisticated.

✓ Hire paid marketing researcher so that can improve more by giving the best product and services.

✓ They can also blue printed the whole process for getting actual result.

✓ They can also emphasize on quality function deployment like customer expectation, important of expectation, association between expectation and service element.

✓ Also provide feedback to each employee personally so that they can improve themselves.

✓ A separate storyline could be attached with each products which will explain the story behind this design, who worked behind the scene and how long it took to get the task done.
