

Wednesday, July 18, 2018, Shraban 3, 1425 BS

Dr Imran Matin

Imran Matin joins BIGD as ED

Staff Correspondent

IMRAN Matin joined BRAC Institute of Governance and Development, BRAC University as its executive director on Sunday, said a press release of the university.

After his masters and PhD in economics from the University of Sussex, Matin started his professional career in BRAC's Research and Evaluation Division in 2003.

Later, he served as deputy executive director of BRAC International till 2012.

Imran Matin also worked for Save the Children International as an international program director, Civil Society Task Force on Poverty Alleviation and Employment Generation and Innovations for Poverty Action as the chief research and policy officer before joining BIGD.

He is involved in major research studies on microfinance, extreme poverty and social protection, according to the release.