Dear Miss,

This is my heartiest fulfillment of submitting the report entitled: “Analysis of the Factors that Affect Job Satisfaction in AB Bank Limited: Scenario of Garib-E-Newaz Branch”.

Through the process of making this report I was able to learn about real life work experience in the banking sector. This report is going to make use of latest data from the annual reports of AB Bank Limited and anyone can do further research on it. This research is going to help the manager to enhance satisfaction level of the employees to increase productivity and thus increase organisational commitment behaviour. This report is going to be based on employees' behaviour and the level of job satisfaction. Later on, the report will measure the level of the motivational factors.

This is only possible because of your supervision. I expect this internship final report will meet all your wishes.

Sincerely,

Fariya Akther Shemin

This research is going to help the manager to identify the factors and thus, going to help to enhance satisfaction level of the employees. Proper job satisfaction will increase productivity and thus increase organizational commitment behaviour. This report is going to be based on employees' behaviour and the level of job satisfaction.

I would like to thank Subhat Ehsan Miss, Lecturer of BRAC Business School. Miss helped me a lot to complete my internship report successfully. Without the help, I would not be able to complete my report.

I would like to thank AB Bank Limited, Garib-E- Newaz branch, Mr. Shamim Ahmed (Manager) and Mr. AL-Amin Sir (Operation Manager) for the informations and giving suggestions regarding this report. Then, my supervisor Mr. Hasan Mahmud (Account Opening Officer) helped me a lot during my internship and Ms. Salma Akter (Senior officer) of AB Bank ,Garib-E-Newaz branch helped me a lot in my banking experience and activities.

I would like to thank each and everyone who made little contributions to my report by providing valuable information and suggestions by analyzing the report thoroughly and finally last but not the least, I would like to thank my parents for giving me this chance because without them it would not have been possible.
Executive Summary

AB Bank is regarded the first private bank of Bangladesh. It was established in 1982. From the beginning it is providing services to their customers by their excellent and skilled employees. This bank obtained market share and revenues by their efficiency. Job satisfaction is very important for achieving organizational goals. This bank is giving lots of training and using motivational factors on the employees to achieve organizational goals. Motivational factors plays vital role in job satisfaction. Numeric data analysis will be done on the topic and the topic is “Analysis of the factors that Affect Job Satisfaction in the AB Bank: Scenario of Garib-E-Newaz Branch”. This report is going to be based on employees' behaviour and the level of job satisfaction. Later on, through this report, I am going to measure the extent of motivational factors enhancing job satisfaction. There will be 20 sample respondents for the analysis of the mindset of employee job satisfaction and then it will be used to show the co-relation between the independent variable and the dependent variable.

Job satisfaction is all about an employee's positive behaviour in the workplace. This positive behaviour enables to enhance productivity, organizational commitment behaviour, to feel self autonomy, feelings and emotions. Nowadays to achieve organisational goals top managers have to work on employee’s job satisfaction level to reduce turnover rate. The report is based on the analysis of what is the extent of satisfaction level of employees of AB bank limited and which factors influence them more. Through this report, we will understand the mindset that affects the satisfaction related to jobs.

This report is going to be made using latest data from the annual reports and anyone might go and do further research on it. This research is going to help the manager to enhance satisfaction level of the employees and hence increase productivity and thus increase organisational commitment behaviour.

Chapter 2:
Research part
Research part

2.1 Introduction of the Report: As I’m a student of Brac Business School, I always had keen interest on banking sector. This keen interest enabled me to do internship in AB Bank Limited. I have gathered experience for three months and it was the best opportunity for getting real life work experience. The environment was very good. The work environment was so positive that it helped me to enhance productivity. Each and every employee was so friendly that I felt very satisfied and comfortable. To complete my BBA degree, I have to submit an internship report. I had a discussion with my supervisor and also faculty advisor and they helped me to choose an Internship report topic and the topic name is “Analysis of the Factors that Affect Job Satisfaction in the AB Bank: Scenario of Garib-E-Newaz Branch. This report is going to be based on employees' behaviour and the level of job satisfaction. Later on I am going to measure the levels of motivational factors that enhance job satisfaction.

2.2 Rationale

Nowadays to achieve organisational goals top managers have to work on employees’ job satisfaction level to reduce turnover rate. The report is based on the analysis of the satisfaction level of employees of AB Bank Limited and which factors influence them more. Through this report, we will understand the mindset that affects the satisfaction related to jobs. Employees are assets for the organisation. Through this report we are going to find out the intrinsic and extrinsic satisfaction that is demanded by the employee. This report shows to what level employees are satisfied. Job satisfaction is related with affection, emotions, value, self-autonomy and personal growth. This report is going to analyse which factors top level manager may work on to increase job satisfaction level. As according to Maslow hierarchy, every employee's needs are not the same. We have to find the actual motivational factor of individual.

2.3 Statement of the Problem

Job satisfaction is all about employee's positive behaviour in the workplace. This positive behaviour enables to enhance productivity, organisational commitment behaviour, to feel self autonomy, feelings and emotions. Nowadays to achieve organisational goals top managers have to work on employee’s job satisfaction level to reduce turnover rate. The report is based on the analysis of the satisfaction level of employees of AB bank limited and which factors influence them more. Through this report, we will understand the mindset that affects the satisfaction related to jobs. Employees are assets for the organisation. This report is going made using latest data from the annual reports and anyone might do further research for it. This research is going to help the manager to enhance satisfaction level of the employees to increase productivity and thus increase organisational commitment behaviour.
2.4 The Purpose of the Study

The purpose of the study is to find out through this report the mindset that affects the satisfaction related to jobs. This research is going to help the manager to enhance satisfaction level of the employees to increase productivity and thus increase organizational commitment behaviours. Through analysis of the factors, we are going to find out the satisfaction level of the employees of AB bank Limited.

2.5 Limitations of the study

A limitation of study is the main constraint in making an analytical report. The limitations are:

Time constraint: It is the main problem in getting in-depth information about the work life. Our internship stands for three months. Within three months, we don’t get in-depth information for making analytical report.

Sample size: The sample size is of the report only 20 respondents. The number of sample size of employee is not enough to find out the proper result.

Not studying other branches: As I was intern of AB Bank (Garib-E-Newaz Branch), I did not study the other branches to get in-depth information.

Lack of resources: Lack of resources is another problem in preparing the report.

2.6 Objective of the Report

Broad objective

1. To achieve outstanding knowledge and information about banking sector.

2. To complete the report with observation and providing solutions to enhance job satisfaction and productivity. This research is going to help the manager to enhance satisfaction level of the employees to increase productivity and thus increase organisational commitment behaviour.

Specific objective

1. To find out the satisfaction level of employees.

2. To measure to what level the employees are satisfied in AB Bank Limited.

3. To understand the main reason behind the mindset that affects the satisfaction related to job.

4. To use the findings as a tool to enhance productivity by identifying the factors behind job satisfaction.
2.7 Research Questions: The research questions which are made on the factors that affect job satisfaction in AB Bank Garib-E-Newaz branch. The analysis will be made on the answers of these questions. The research questions are:

1. To what extent level employees of AB Bank Limited are satisfied with their job?
2. Which factor influences employees more towards job satisfaction?
3. To what extent level employees are happy with their working conditions?
4. To what extent level employees are satisfied due to relationships with co-workers?
5. What are the improvements employees wants for increasing organisational commitment behaviour?
6. To what extent level the current working conditions influence employees to enhance productivity?
7. What kind of factors should be there to increase job satisfaction?
8. How is relationship from top level to lower level in the AB Bank Limited?
9. To what extent level employees are satisfied with their current salary?
10. Is every employee looking for promotion in the AB bank for their performance?
11. What kind intrinsic satisfaction and extrinsic satisfaction should provide to employees to increase job satisfaction?
Chapter 3: Review of Related Literature
3.1 Literature review

Job satisfaction is defined by, Weiss (2002, p.174) that emotions and feelings where employee feel positive work environment, self-fulfilment, self-autonomy. Job satisfaction is related to enhance productivity and output and enhance organisational commitment behaviour.

Defined by (Happock, 1935), about job satisfaction that it depends mostly on salary, working environment, promotion, job security and other incentives. Job satisfaction creates positive feeling about the organisation on employee mindset.

To achieve higher productivity, job satisfaction is very important. Because it creates loyalty, self-fulfilment, supports the goals of organisation, positive behaviour. This also helps to reduce turnover rate. (Happock,1935)

If employees are happy with their job they are surely going to give extra dedication to their job which will be more beneficial for the organisation and for the prospects (Azlrl, 2008)

The term job satisfaction is positive or negative attitude towards the workplace. (Armstrong, 2006)

Job satisfaction is regarded as to enhance efficiency and effectiveness of higher productivity. In every organisation human must be treated fairly and have to provide them positive work environment and rewards as intrinsic motivation (Statt, 2004)

3.2 Theories: Each and individual employee has their own needs. Through this report, the analysis will be made to what extent employee is satisfied and find out the factors affecting job satisfaction. Due to this, to identify individual needs and demand at first I have to start with some theories. The report is based on the analysis of the satisfaction level of employees of AB bank limited and which factors influence them more. Through this report, we will understand the mindset that affects the satisfaction related to jobs. Employees are assets for the organization. This report is going made on using latest data from the annual reports and anyone might go for further research on it.

3.2.1 Herzberg Two Factor Theory: According to Herzberg theory, motivational factors are divided into two dimensions. The dimensions are “motivators” and “hygiene”. The motivator dimension is regarded as intrinsic satisfaction and the examples are: personal growth, positive feelings elf-autonomy, and achievement.

The “hygiene” dimension regards as extrinsic satisfaction. The examples are: promotion, salary and inter-personal growth. From analysing the report, we are going to find out whether employees want intrinsic satisfaction or extrinsic satisfaction.
3.2.2 Maslow’s Hierarchy of Needs: This hierarchy indicates the five dimensional levels, where every employee's needs are different. The steps are: psychological needs, safety, love, self-esteem and self-actualisation level. From this report we are going to identify the needs of every employee and to what level we need to motivate them.

3.3 Factors Affecting Job Satisfaction:

AB is the first private bank of Bangladesh. It was established in 1982. From the beginning it is giving services to their customers by their excellent and skilled employee. This bank obtained market share and revenues by their efficient employees. Job satisfaction is very important for achieving organisational goals. This bank is giving lots of training and using motivational factors for employees to achieve organisational goals. Motivational factors play vital role in job satisfaction.

Job satisfaction depends on different motivational factors. The research is going to happen on the factors that affect job satisfaction in AB bank limited (Garib-E-Newaz) branch. The factors are:

1. Salary
2. Working Environment
3. Promotion
4. Relationships with co-workers

The descriptions of independent variables are:

1. Salary: Salary is very essential for employees as it enable employees to achieve organizational goals. Salary is regarded as survival need. It enhances job satisfaction and it is positively related with job satisfaction. If one employee gets proper Salary, he/she works hard for the organization. Due to positive relationships with job satisfaction and salary, it enhances productivity and stronger performance.

2. Promotion: Promotion is very important to increase productivity and to decrease turnover rate. Due to promotion it boosts productivity and organizational commitment behaviour. It is help to motivate employees. Due to promotion of employees, it adds more responsibilities and work pressures. It is highly positively related with job satisfaction.

3. Working conditions: working conditions enhances job satisfaction and due to this employee feels self motivated and thus increase productivity. In the workplace, safety is not only important for employees but also for the welfare for the organization. The workplace atmosphere enables employees to enhance positive outcome to achieve organizational goals.

4. Relationship with co-workers: Relationship is co-workers is very important. This enhances positive feelings around the workplace and helps to motivate employees to achieve goals. Due to this, organisational commitment behaviour also get increased. This also enhances team work and thus makes employees to improve their mood and enhances job engagement. These increase positive relationships among the workplace.
Here, the independent variables are salary, working conditions, promotions and relationships with co-workers. The dependent variable is job satisfaction. The relationship will be between independent variable and dependent variables are:

H1: Salary is positively related to job satisfaction.

H2: Working conditions is positively related to job satisfaction.

H3: Promotion is positively related to job satisfaction.

H4: Relationships with co-workers is positively related job satisfaction.

Methodology: This analysis will be on Quantitative data basis. To find out the factors affecting job satisfaction, they will be divided in different groups such as:

1. Gender
2. Department
3. Work experiences
4. Salary
5. Promotions
6. Other motivational factors
7. Research questions

4.4 Findings: According the survey, the findings for the AB Bank Limited, Garib-E-Newaz Branch is:

1. Salary is very essential for employees and it is meant as survival need from top to lower level of employees. As 50% employees are not satisfied with the salary, this should be taken into consideration.

2. According to the open ended question, different facilities should be made up to the mark to cope up with the latest banking activities and some facilities should be improved to enhance productivity of employees.

3. Transportation facilities, canteen facilities and home loan services should be improved as it is very essential for female workers. Thousands of people are killed during the road accidents and this situation should take into consideration to make facilities of transportation for female employees.

4. Day care centre services may increase to enhance the satisfaction level of the employees. Female workers will feel more committed towards job and thus will increase organizational commitment behaviour, as employees are the asset of the organization.

5. To enhance job satisfaction, employee should get proper incentives and services. Transportation facilities may increase the satisfaction level to job and thus will increase productivity and job engagement and organisational commitment behaviour.

6. In national bank, employee get home loan easily but in private bank the procedures are very lengthy and thus increase job dissatisfaction.

7. Here, the most risky factor is if any bad loan happens, then employee may go under the threat. Organization may do strong analysis to eradicate bad loan so that only the employee would not be liable.

8. Due to work pressure, employees love to go to holidays for relaxation. If employees get chance for relaxation, it will increase their level of satisfaction and productivity.
Chapter 5: Recommendations and Conclusion
5.1 Recommendations:

This branch is offering different services to the customers to meet customer needs but some improvements should be made for employees as well, as excellent and skilled workforce is working for meeting the customers’ needs and making contributions to the economic development of nation. The recommendations for AB Bank Limited are:

Transportation services: Employees are the assets of every organisation. To enhance job satisfaction, employee should get proper incentives and services. Transportation facilities may increase the satisfaction level to job and thus will increase productivity and job engagement and organisational commitment behaviour. Transportation services may be arranged for female employees. According to survey results, we have found out that transportation services may increase the satisfaction level of employees.

Home loan facilities: Home loan facilities should be increased to enhance job satisfaction level. According to the survey results, we have found out that home loan facilities process should be easier. In national bank, employee get home loan easily but in private bank the procedures are very lengthy and thus increase job dissatisfaction.

Canteen facilities: Canteen services are not up to the mark according to the survey. To enhance canteen facilities, make different varieties of food available and the canteen should be neat and clean and the space should be made wider.

Eradicate risk involvement: The most risky factor is if any bad loan happens, then employee may go under the threat. Organisation may do strong analysis to eradicate bad loan so that only the employee should not be liable.

Increase incentives: To raise job satisfaction level, more incentives and rewards may be arranged for the employees during events. According to the survey results, Employees of AB Bank Limited, (Garib-E-Newaz) branch suggested about increasing incentives.

Salary Increment: Salary increment is another recommendation for enhancing job satisfaction level. From the result we have found out that employees have suggested increasing their salary because other banks are giving more facilities to their employees.

More holidays: Due to work pressure, employees love to go for more holidays for relaxation. If employees get chance for relaxation, it will increase their level of satisfaction.

Retirement plans: Like government service jobs, private organization employees should get the satisfaction to enhance job satisfaction and after the retirement, there should be lucrative offers for as honour them.
5.2 Conclusion: Employees are the heart of every organisation. Employees are regarded as assets of an organisation. Through this report, the analysis is done on to what extent employees are satisfied and find out the factors of affecting job satisfaction. Due to this, to identify individual needs and demand at first I have to start with some theories. Services are innovative with excellence and there is new internet banking system to meet customers need and it is only possible because of their skilled employees. Job satisfaction is very important for achieving organisational goals. This bank is giving lots of training and using motivational factors for employees to achieve organisational goals. This positive behaviour enables to enhance productivity, organisational commitment behaviour, to feel self autonomy, feelings and emotions. Nowadays to achieve organisational goals top managers have to work on employees' job satisfaction level to reduce turnover rate. The report is based on the analysis on the satisfaction level of employees of AB bank limited and which factors influence them more.
