CHAPTER-1

INTRODUCTION
INTRODUCTION:

Eating is one of life’s pleasure and pride – so is cooking and serving good food to others. A Restaurant is a commercial outfit which specializes in the preparation of quality food and to serve them to satisfy the customer’s demands. Most Restaurants are also equipped with infrastructure facilities, table settings, and dining halls of various sizes to cater to needs of small gatherings to grandiose banquets to suit customer demands and above all, trained personnel to provide a satisfactory service.

A Restaurant is an eating place where people are served food, drinks and desserts for their money. The food is served normally within a building even though presently, one can be given packed food to be eaten away. Food in a Restaurant is prepared by chefs. Sometimes, Restaurants specializes in the kind of food they offer.

THEORETICAL ANALYSIS
3.0 Definition of Human Resource Management (HRM)

According to Garry Dessler, HRM is the policies and practices that one needs to carry out the “people” or human resource aspects of a management position, including recruiting, screening, training, rewarding and appraising.

Human Resource Management includes following aspects:

![Diagram of HRM Aspects]

3.1 Definition of Selection

The selection process is a series of specific steps used to decide which recruits should be hired. The process begins when recruits apply for employment and ends with the hiring decision. According to Dale Yoder, “selection is the process by which candidates for employment are divided into two classes those who will be offered for employment and those who will not.”

The selection process typically consists of eight (8) steps:

3.2 Definition of Training

Training consists of planned programs designed to improve performance at the individual, group and organizational or organizational levels. Improved performance in turn implies that there have been measurable changes in knowledge, skills, attitude and social behavior.

According to Griffen, “training usually refers to the teaching operational or technical employees how to do the job for which they are hired.”

3.3 Definition of Development

Employee development, by design, is more future oriented and more concerned with education than employee job specific training. According to Griffen, “development refers to teaching managers and professionals the skill needed for both present and future jobs.”

Employee developments methods are:

- Job rotation
- Assistant- to positions
- Committee assignment
- Lecture courses & seminars

3.4. Training and Development program of The Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant

Human Resource development is an essential pre-requisite to achieving goals. Continuous training of the employees is aimed at capacity and professional skill building throughout the year.

Training is a learning experience in that it seeks a relatively permanent change in an individual that will improve his /her ability to perform on the job. We typically say training can involve the changing of skill, knowledge, attitudes or social behavior. It is application of knowledge.

Development is a related process. It covers not only those activities which improve job performance but also those which Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant growth of the personality; help individuals to the progress toward maturity and actualization of their potential capacities so that they become not only good employees but better men and women. The most popular training methods used is “on job training”.

On - the - Job Training

The most widely used methods of training take place on the job. This can be attributed to the simplicity of such methods and the impressions that try are less costly to operate. On -the -job training places the employees in an actual work situation and makes them appear to be immediately productive. It is learning by doing.

One of the drawbacks to on the job training can be low productivity while the employees develop their skills.

3.5 Training Needs and Priorities of The Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant

Now that we have an understanding of what should include we can look at how we assess whether there is a need for training. We propose that management can determine this by answering four questions:

1. What are the organization's goals?
2. What tasks must be completed to achieve these goals?
3. What behaviors are necessary for each job incumbent to complete his/her assigned tasks?
4. What deficiencies, if any, do incumbent have in the skills, knowledge or attitudes required to perform the necessary behaviors?

Training will be its judged by its contribution to performance where performance is a functional of skills, abilities, motivation, and the opportunity to perform. Manager must compare the value received from the increase in performance. That can be attributed to training with the costs incurred in that training. The desire for improved worker productivity cannot e approached in a vacuum. The benefits that accrue from training must exceed the costs incurred.
3.6 Steps in the Evaluation of training and Development:

- Evaluation criteria
- Training
- Workers posttest
- Transfer to the job

3.7 Rewards & Control Systems

Rewards & Control Systems are meticulously refined to reinforce behavior that is deemed pivotal to succession the market place. The employees who don't adhere to the cultural and behavioral norms of the organization, due to dissonance between the values of the individual and the values of the organization; are given a clear warning to either shape up or ship out.

CHAPTER – 5

FINDINGS, RECOMMENDATIONS AND CONCLUSION
5.1 Findings of the study

- The job analysis, human resource planning, recruitment and selection policy of Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant is not standard because the HRD is not capable to apply the various HRM function.

- The Pay Packages of the restaurant is not competitive in comparing to other restaurants in Bangladesh.

- Employees training is not arranged frequently basis.

- Though the organization is not in lacking of employees, but I think there is lacking of proper employees- that means “lack of right people in right place”.

- Some employees says that extra work load in a regular basis is a common criteria of the organization. For this reason, the restaurant sometime loss employees attractiveness.

- Training evaluation systems are not properly used or maintained.

5.2 Recommendations

Recommendation means to give suggestions about Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant. On the basis of the findings and analysis of the study, my recommendations are given below:

- The HRD of the organization should be analyzed the modern HRM system, and apply all the HRM function properly because the HRM policy serves as the cornerstone of all human resource functions in an organization.

- The manager of HRD should be prepared the standard performance appraisal because the success and failure of an organization is highly depended on the proper human resource performance. Only performance reward of an employee can motivate them to attain the organizational goal.
➢ The HRD should establish the standard pay structure for the employees of the organization in order to reduce the high turnover of employees.

➢ Training should be formulated in consultation with the training division in the central level and mid level. On regular basis of its human perfection.

➢ The authority of Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant should prepare a uniform performance appraisal policy. Manager should avoid the biasness so that efficient employee can get proper reward for their performance. “right man in right position”

➢ Make succession planning. A careful and considered plan of action ensures that the least possible disruption to the person’s responsibilities and therefore the organization’s effectiveness.

➢ Reduce the extra workload of the employee. If give them extra pay to reduced the employee unrest, and turnover.

5.3 Conclusion

Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant is a restaurant that confirms the best service to the customers as well as to the employees by Human Resource Division. Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant is the fastest growing Restaurant. By working in HR Division the knowledge was learnt would be helpful enough to sustain.

Restaurant business is an emerging concept from Bangladesh’s point of view. Day-by-day, it is getting popular in the middle class people. From very beginning Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant has successfully run their business with well reputation now they create their own interest on capacity in restaurant business.

The Restaurant business has a great prospect in Bangladesh. So, the management of Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant should give more concentration in this potential sector with proper strategy, better marketing policy and satisfactory customer services. Hopefully these recommendations will help to Bay Rose Gourmet Restaurant continue its progress.
