All praise to Allah, the almighty, and the merciful. Without his blessing and endorsement this report would not have been accomplished.

The successful completion of this report might never be possible in time without the help some person whose inspiration and suggestion made it happen. First of all I want to thank my faculty advisor Mr. Shamim Ehsanul Haque for helping me completing my report on HR Practice at Partex Star Group.

I would also like to thank my company supervisor Mr. Khair Hossain Sumon, designated as Deputy General Manager of HR department at Partex Star Group, and my colleagues who helped me by providing informative instructions. I was closely attached with them during my internship tenure. Without them this project would have been very difficult.

I would also like to thank my parents, and some friends who keep on this long process with me, always offer support.

And finally I also express my sincere gratitude to all those who participated to prepare the report. Most of them were busy employees of Partex Star Group.
Executive Summary

This is the internship report based on the three month internship program that I had successfully completed at Partex Star Group under Human Resource Division from 28-Mar-2015 to 28-Jun-2015 as a requirement of my MBA program of BRAC Business School of BRAC University. As being completely new to practical, corporate world setting, every hour spent in the HRD gave me some amount of experience all the time all of which cannot be explained in words. But nevertheless, they were all useful for my career. This report includes how an HR Department works, what are the possible divisions and work distribution in an HRD, recruitment process, training and development initiatives, how to keep employees engaged as well as how can human resource practices can influence perceived organizational performance.

I have worked in Human Resource Division of Partex Star Group with almost all the wings of HR like Recruitment, Learning & Organization Development (Training), Compensation, Pay and Benefits and HR Administration. Partex Star Group has a rich Human Resource Department. It maintains the organizational responsibilities successfully. The HR team of Partex Star group is highly organized and as well as target oriented.

I have worked with different types of recruitment procedure of Partex Star Group. Within my three months internship around 224 regular employees are recruited on regular basis in Partex Star Group in different procedure and system. I have also assisted the recruitment team in doing other works like joining workers, updating CVS etc. In Training wing I have mainly assisted the training team in updating the personal files of regular employees with the number of trainings that they have done over the years. I have assisted the compensation, pay and benefit team in order to process their final settlement data and the administration team in processing of leave of the employees. Before drawing any conclusion based on this report it may be noted that the report was prepared in a very short time and there is lack in data. But still the report may be useful for designing any further study to evaluate the HR facilities provided by the local conglomerates.
Introduction

1.1 Company Overview

Background: Partex Star Group is among the large Bangladesh private sector manufacturing and service based enterprises, owning and operating over twenty units giving value for money to all customers. The group started modestly in 1959 in tobacco trading and with prudent entrepreneurship of our Founder Chairman Mr. M.A. Hashem. Today we have a stake in tobacco, food, water, soft drinks, steel container, edible oil, wooden board, furniture, cotton yarn and the IT sector. After Bangladesh was established our Chairman set up M/S Hashem Corporation (Pvt.) Ltd. in Chittagong city meeting the large demand of food and materials needed for sustaining the needs of a new nation through imports. From importing to import substitution was the next logical step and the stepping stone into the manufacturing sector, which has matured to the multimillion dollar diverse investment of the Partex Star Group today. A dedicated work force and committed board members led by our Chairman and backed by a market oriented corporate strategy has been the cornerstone of our success. Today the group has over twenty family owned private limited companies with a sizable turnover. Ours is a dynamic organization always exploring new ideas and avenues to expand and grow further.
1.2 Mission and Vision:

1.2.1 Vision

— To be an entrepreneurially driven enterprise - Thinking innovatively in all aspects of the business, from technological to commercial. To be intensely competitive in whatever we do, by constantly bettering the benchmarks set by us.

— To be a globally preferred business associate - an entrepreneurial organization having responsible concern for employees, society, the ecology, and stakeholder value. Strive to generate optimum value for all our associates through constant innovation and adoption of universal best practices and improving upon all those touches points that directly impact the business.

— To provide a dynamic and challenging environment for our employees.

— To be a responsible concern - We shall harmonize all our actions and reactions, with the global environment and actively work to reduce our environmental load.

1.2.2 Mission

To combine aggressive strategic marketing with quality products and services at competitive prices in order to provide the best value for consumers. Grow profitable through superior customer service, product innovation, quality and commitment.

1.2.3 The Aim

The Sky is not the limit for us, but our expectation is within limits. Therefore, our imagination soars beyond conventional barriers. We share or destiny with our beloved motherland. We want to serve her in the greater quest for national uplift.
1.2.4 The Way

To sincere traveler, the way is never too long. We believe in "progress in diversity and service through entrepreneur". We are merchants and missionaries, doers and dreamers, entrepreneurs and professionals. We are futuristic with emphasis on creating thinking and dynamic action.

1.2.5 The Spirit

Enterprise is our spirit. We manufacture superior import-substitute consumer and industrial products. Our cutting edge precision leads to greater public utility and hygiene, with a great care for the environment and human inhabitation. It is the very ingredient that gives our organization the integrity upon which our reputation is built and we zealously guard it every day. Many a thousand minds of our group contributed their gathered knowledge to keep the wheels rolling that in turn leads us to our goal. This cumulative strength of knowledge is required, today, to find new solutions for the manifold problems of fast changing economic cultural and ecological milieu.

1.2.6 Values

With sound financial governance and a clear business strategy Partex Star Group continues to gain sustainable growth. Our focus on the effective delivery of high value business applications to highly regulated markets has proven successful, enabling us to manufacture and deliver quality products and services nationwide and globally. We provide in house and international training to our employees and foster a dynamic environment within all of our offices.

Partex Star Group believes and practices the values as follows

Excellence in Operation
Encourage innovation

1.3 History of the Organization

Partex Group started its journey in 1959 with the torchbearer M.A Hashem, founder chairman of the group. M.A Hashem, the living legend steered the group with such incomparable dynamics and skills, that the group attained prolific growth over a period of 50 years conglomerating 60 companies; most of which are diverse manufacturing units.

The enormous growth and fulfillment of anticipated success caused eventually a natural exodus from patrimonial management system while using the Partex as a springboard that has been held in high respect both at home and abroad for last 50 years for our adherence to values, quality products and business ethics.

With the passage of time and advent of business, the pioneering spirit of Partex has been showcased by family generation comprising Mr. Aziz Al-Kaiser, Mr. Aziz Al-Mahmood, Mr. Aziz Al-Masud, Mr. Showkat Aziz Russell & Mr. Rubel Aziz.

Significantly enough, Partex Star Group an offshoot of Partex Group steering business successfully with Mrs. Sultana Hashem at Chairperson and Mr Aziz Al Kaiser as Vice Chairman.

Partex Star Group consists of 17 concerns. In 2000-2001 its targeting turnover is Tk. 8,000 million and estimated growth rate 15% per annum. Net worth at current market price is Tk. 7,500 Million. Over 350 distributors around the nation are engaged in distributing the products and services. There are over 45,000 outlets where products are marketed. Partex's movement is many-fold. It extends its network in various sectors extended from milk to steel products.

As a well-known conglomerate Partex Star Group always try to ensure its product quality as well as customer satisfaction. Currently it has around 1400 employees. All those employees are working sincerely for increasing company profit as well as welfare. Partex Star Group also motivates their employees using several incentives. 12. Respect Employees' freedom of speech and association as long as they are within the legal boundaries.

13. Recognize employees' contribution and rewards commensurate to their merit and performance.

2.3 Human Resource Department Functions

Human resource management (HRM) is a process consisting of the acquisition, development, motivation and maintenance of human resources. It is concerned with the people dimension in management. Since every organization is made up of people in order to achieve the organizational objective it is essential to:

1. Acquire their service
2. Develop their service
3. Motivate them to higher levels of performance
4. Ensure continuity of maintaining their commitment to the organization.

The above four functions may be described as getting people, preparing them, activating them and keeping them.

2.4 Acquisition Function:

The acquisition function begins with planning relative to human resources requirement by estimating demand and supply of labor. It also includes the recruitment, selection and socialization of employees.

2.5 Development Function:

The development functions can be viewed from the following three dimensions:
1. Employees training: It emphasizes skill development and the changing of attitudes among workers.

2. Management Development: It primarily concerns with knowledge acquisition and the enhancement of an executives conceptual abilities.

3. Carrier Development: It is the continued effort to match long-term individual and organizational needs.

2.6 Motivation Functions:

1. It recognizes that individuals are unique and that motivation techniques must reflect the needs of each individual.

2. It reviews the employee's alienation, job satisfaction, performance appraisal, behavioral and structural techniques for stimulating workers performance, the importance of linking rewards to performance, compensation and benefit administrations and how to handle problems.

2.7 Maintenance Function:

It is concerned with providing those working conditions that employees believe are necessary in order to maintain their commitment to the organization.

3.1 Human Resource Area

The following are the Human resources areas that have impacts on the human resources outputs that are classified as quality of life, productivity and readiness for changes:

1. Human resource planning - Determining the organization, major Human Resource needs, strategies and philosophies.

2. Organization / Job design - Defining how tasks, authority and systems will be organized and integrated across organization units and in individual jobs.
3. Selection and staffing - Matching people and their career needs and capabilities with jobs and career paths.

7. Employees Assistance - Providing personal problem solving, counseling to individual or employees.

8. Union / Labor relation - Assuring healthy union / organization relationship.

9. Personnel Research and Information System - Assuring a personnel information base.

3.2 Output of Human Resource Area

1. Quality of Work life: The premise of quality of work life is having a work environment where an employee's activities become more important. This means implementing procedures or policies that make the workless routine and more rewarding for the employee include autonomy, recognition, belonging, progress and development and external rewards.

2. Productivity: It is the amount of work that is being produced in term of how much and how well. Major components constituting productivity factor are: capital investment, innovation, learning, and motivation.

3. Readiness for change: Change is a fact of life in both private and work life. At the work site, one must be aware that changes will occur. This may be either getting a new boss or by automating many of the manual operation. Organization perspective demands that change must take place to remain competitive. It is employers responsibility to communicate the forthcoming changes to their employees, identify why the changes are necessary and lend their total support ensuring that the change take place.

4.1 Human Resource Plan and Control

4.1.1 Human resource Plan Definition

Human resource planning is the process by which an organization ensures that it has the right number and kinds of people, at the right places, at the right time, capable of effectively and efficiently completing those tasks that will help the organization to achieve its overall objectives. Human resource planning ultimately translates the organization's objectives and plans into goals, into the number and type of employees needed to meet those objectives. It is an integral part of the organization overall strategy.

4.1.2 Purposes

The aims of manpower planning of Partex Star Group are:

1. To ensure that Partex Star Group acquires and retains the optimum number of employees with the required skills, expertise and competence;

2. To exercise effective control of staffing and the associated cost; and

3. To assist in optimum resources allocation so that potential manpower surplus or shortage can be anticipated and alleviated as much as possible.
4.1.3 Planning
Heads of Division/Department are required to conduct a thorough review of the operations, structure and manpower of their Divisions/Departments each year, and furnish recommendations of manpower plan for the following financial year to the Human Resources Department. The Human Resources Department is responsible for reviewing the recommendations and compiling a corporate manpower plan for the financial year. The manpower plan sets out the number of posts by level and by Division/Department.

4.1.4 Planning Process
1. Human resource planning begins by developing profile of the current status of human resources. This is an internal analysis that includes an inventory of employees and skills already available within the organization and a comprehensive job analysis.
2. Analyze jobs providing information about job currently being done, a critical input for job description, job specification and job evaluation.
3. Review the organizations overall objectives and revenue projection.
4. Translate revenue projection into forecast of demand for human resources.
5. Assess and forecast internal and external supply source.
6. Matching the forecasts of future demand and supply highlighting shortage, and over staff position.

4.1.5 Procedures
1. HR issues organization change request form to each Department Head, as part of the business planning exercise.
2. Department Heads return the completed forms to HR Department.

3. Based on inputs received, short term and long term HR objectives are set in line with business plan.

4. Head of HR invites other departments head in a HR Planning review workshop to:
   - Discuss and understand different functional and organizational needs
   - Share and agree upon the assumptions that underpin the planning premises
   - Achieve consensus on the data collection method and source of data to be obtained!
   - Head of HR facilitates the session and prepares proceedings.

5. HR Department Prepares Plan with detailed schedule and estimated budget.
   - HR Department prepares the draft HR Plan.
   - Head of HR reviews the draft plan and budget and provides his feedback.
   - Head of Finance checks the draft plan and budget and provides input on impact of the plan and budget on bottom line and productivity.
   - HR Planning section makes necessary amendment based on input received from Head of HR & Finance.

6. Head of HR places the HR Plan and Budget to the MD / CEO for approval.

7. MD / CEO reviews and approves or revises the annual HR Plan and Budget.

8. Upon review and approval of the plan, Head of HR informs each Function / Department Head, initiates the program and facilitates the department heads to institute the plan.

4. The expenses incurred by an employee to attend training session/ courses/ workshops are borne by the company.

5. All in-house and external training programs are documented using the training card. Every department has to follow an employee performance measurement method devised by the HRD. This performance measurement form is filled out and signed by the supervisors and respective Department Heads. Based on these performance reviews, training needs are identified for different employees.
Below is a training need identification flow chart:

1. Identification of the need by the employee's performance measurement
2. Discuss with the Dept. Head
3. Recommend by Head of HR
4. Arrange Training
5. Completion of Training
6. Feedback of HR
7. Record Keeping in Personal File
9.3 Procedures

1. A structured Training Needs Assessment (TNA) is conducted to determine what training is relevant to employees' jobs, to determine what training will improve performance, to distinguish training needs from organizational problems, and, to link improved job performance with the organization's goals and bottom line. Learning Value Added (LVA) is used as a tool an identifying the business needs as well as learning needs, designing and development of the training module, delivery of the content and also in measuring the training effectiveness.

The LVA Toolkit is a resource that helps to develop knowledge of the impact of learning solutions, diagnose and confirm business needs, increase capability to support strategic initiatives, select and direct vendor activities and increase the return on training investments. To conduct effective TNA, discussions are arranged with sponsors, i.e. division heads, section heads and focus groups.

2. HR liaises with each Division Head to identify training & development requirement for each employee based on:

- Business needs assessment where implications of current and future business goals on people performance are considered.

- Learning needs assessment where requirement is identified based on interview with focused group or targeted audience.

- Development plan of the employee that is found from annual performance evaluation exercise.
3. HR works out training programs for the whole year based on the outcomes of training needs assessment exercise.

- HR invites other departments in a discussion session for need assessment.

- Department Heads clarify objectives of the training recommended and present how the training will benefit the employees, the department and the company.

- HR & Finance checks whether the provision of requested training has been made in annual business plan and budget. HR facilitates the session and prepares proceedings.

- An organization wide Learning Network (LN) is created consisting of a representative from each division to act as a focal point and ensure that required programs are arranged to address the identified learning needs.

4. The draft Annual Training and Development Plan (ATDP) with detailed schedule and estimated budget is prepared.

- HR prepares the draft Annual Training and Development Plan which has the following components:

  (a) Detailed training calendar and plan

  (b) Instructional / training methods to be used

  (c) A summary of estimated costs and resources requirement

  (d) A value analysis/cost-benefit assessment

- Chief HR Officer reviews the draft plan and budget and provides his feedback.
- Finance checks the draft plan and budget and provides their input on impact of the plan and budget on bottom line and productivity.

HR makes necessary amendment based on input received from Chief HR Officer & Finance.

5. HR places the Annual Training and Development Plan and Budget for approval of Chief HR Officer who then gets the final authorization.

6. MD / CEO reviews and authorizes annual Training and Development Plan and Budget.

7. For in-house training program HR selects suitable resource person from among employees by searching through skills inventory or notifying via company notice board:

- HR analyzes skill inventory and employee records to identify line and/or executive suitable to conduct training.

- A shortlist of prospective trainers is prepared based on evaluation criteria.

- Selected candidates are included in the trainer pool of the company.

- HR arranges Train the Trainer (TOT) program for the trainer pool officials as and when deemed fit.

- Suitable trainers from the trainer pool are engaged to conduct relevant courses.

- In-house resource persons are provided with a complimentary allowance for conduction the training program.

- In-house Sales Oriented Training and Operation Process (OP) training follow a structured preset program/curriculum called the’ Education Road Map'.
- In-house General and Specialized Function Training and management development training programs are need based.

8. To provide general, specialized function and management training for which resource person/faculty is not available in-house following two approaches of external (local) training program are followed:

s- Training programs are outsourced from suitable training houses.

(a) On receipt of the training offers, HR checks the cost, credential of the training services provider; its facilities and validity of the course(s) in relation to the training needs of the total organization.

(b) HR prepares comparative statement of the applications based on the following:

- Experience and credential of firm
- Key competency of the firm
- Resource persons associated with the firm.
- Understanding of the requirement
- Course outline
- Training schedule and plan
- Overview of cost component
- Detailed breakdown of costs

10. Introduction

A message frequently found in corporation mission statement and annual reports is that people are firms’ most valuable resource. Having the right personnel at the right place and at the right time is utmost important to survival and success of any organization. (Oladipo 2011). Firms proclaim that people are the source of their competitive advantage whether they be technological experts, accommodating customer services expert, or visionary managers … at a time of unparallel technology development, it is the human resource that spell success or failure for all firms, and especially entrepreneurial ones (Katz et al.2000).

Quite honestly, organizations and managers are aware that at every point, they face rapid and complex changes in the market environment. One of the most remarkable results is the change of attitude in some organizations toward human resource. Top managers in such perceived that people are among the organizations most valuable strategic resources (Pfeffer 1994). Organizations with long term objective are therefore, re-examine the way in which they manage their human resource. This reappraisal is leading to a widening of the role of personnel management, as indicated by increasing popularity of term “Human resource management (HRM).

The impact of human resource management (HRM) popularly known as HR practices on organizational performance and employee attitude has been a leading area of research in the developed countries for years.
10.1 Objective of the Study

A decrease in the magnitude of traditional sources of competitive success has led to the increased significance of human resources as part of an organization’s tangible and intangible resources having the potential for continuous organizational success (Barney, 1986, 1991, 1995; Von Glinow, 1993; Lado and Wilson, 1994). The new model of human relations views management as the primary performer in the employment relationship and relates to HRMP as “good things”. The universalistic perspective has been proposed as a key approach in human resource management literature, and as other perspectives, it plays a fundamental role in explaining different levels of organizational performance. The universalistic perspective asserts that there is a simple direct relationship between several HRMP and organizational performance (Delery and Doty, 1996). As a result, a universal human resource management practice would directly influence organizational performance, remaining all other things constant.

According to the universalistic perspective, organizations from different sectors, across industries, and through different time periods should use a series of select human resource management practices (HRMP). The main purpose of this paper is to investigate whether there is any difference in the relationship between compensation, participation, training, and selective hiring with the organizational performance across time. Therefore given these observations, the various HRM practices in which HRM might play strategic roles as observed from the aforementioned literatures include training, employee participation, and selection. In consequent, for the purpose of this study, the above-mentioned HRMP or tasks will form the basis of the hypotheses and the questionnaire.
The main purpose of this study is to evaluate the impact of human resource management practices on organizational performance in Partex Star Group. In order to meet this objective, the following objectives taken up under our consideration.

1. To find out the impact of human resource management practices on organizational performance.
2. To identify the human resource practices that contribute most to the organizational performance.
3. To increase awareness in organizations regarding effective human resource activities.
4. To propose useful direction for future researches.
5. To offer some measures in order to enhance the organizational performance of the selected conglomerate in Bangladesh.

10.2. Significance of the Study

- First, it will help researcher to understand the relationship between training, participation, and employee selection with perceived organizational performance.
- Second, Human Resource is an emerging concept in Bangladesh and organizations such as Partex Star Group put much more emphasis on this department so this study will help the organization as well. In this regard, this research will help to increase organization’s performance in a way the employee of the organization will think.
- Third, it will encourage further study in this area and will provide useful guidelines for this type of research.
Recommendation

After completing the analysis of the studied variables in the context of Partex Star Group, the following issues were found for recommendation:

From the analysis, training proved to be a significant factor for organizational performance. Therefore, Partex Star Group should emphasize on their training program to a great degree. Partex Star Group should give proper formal training in different areas to their employees so that they can increase the organization’s performance through increase their individual performance by getting good training.

According to the findings, Recruitment and Selection turned out to be a very important factor for Partex Star Group. Majority of the employees believed that structured selection process of employees in different organizational aspects played a strong role in improving the organizations performance. So Partex Star Group should put more focus on it and needs to create such recruitment policy so that to right candidates should be selected for the right position in the right time.

For improving the performance and remove the problem of Partex Star Group (PSG), some necessary steps are recommended bellow on the basis of collected data, observation, expert staffs’ opinion and my knowledge and judgment.

- Should increase the number of computers as well as printers with proper UPS facility.
- PSG must expand marketing campaign by giving more advertisement, sponsorship etc.
- To perform the activities more quickly and efficiently, PSG should hire more efficient employees in their different departments.
✓ The software and network system of HR department should be updated properly.
✓ PSG should evaluate the previous performance and the after training performance to identify the improvements.
✓ PSG management must change the system of appointing people by giving their reference
✓ They should take HR forecasting more seriously as it is the most important part of HR planning.
✓ To keep fair and effective recruit policy they should introduce assessment center.
✓ Organization should hire more human resource in HRD department because there is insufficient manpower.
✓ PSG needs to be more focused on CSR activities and employee retention & welfare programs.

Limitation of the Study

Although this study makes several important contributions to the literature and has valuable implications for practice, it is not without limitations. There are be some other factors which can affect perceived organizational performance like industry sector, organizational size, organizational age, and union membership or personal relationship with staff which the researcher has not considered because of the simplicity of the research and to narrow down the research focus.

Moreover, the sample will be taken from the employees of the Partex Star Group who has six months or more experience in the job and only from the branches in Dhaka city.
Conclusion

To improve the organizational performance it is very important to provide formal training, compensation by which the employees can satisfy themselves, and create opportunities where every employee can participate. To an extent it is important to select the right kind of employee for increase organizational performance, but the magnitude of transparency and quality Partex Star Group exerts in its employee selection process renders it sufficient to merely continue the current practice. Therefore, from this study Partex Star Group can get the indications on which of the issues they have to focus more to increase or improving their performance. Finally, this research will encourage further study and useful guidelines for these types of researches.
