BRAC Business School requires 3 months of internship at the end of BBA program. The objective of internship program is basically to have practical experience of the real job life to enrich our professionalism and also to contribute our skills and expertise to the company by performing the assigned job duties and responsibilities. The HR major courses helped me to form a bridge between my academic learning and practical experience. I was assigned to assist the recruitment and selection team of Aarong, specifically for the recruitment and selection of the project staffs of Aarong. So I did this report on the topic of “The Recruitment and Selection Process and its Effectiveness of the Project Staffs of Aarong”. Project staffs of Aarong are basically the Sales Associates of Aarong. The analysis of the overall procedures for recruitment and selection of project staffs which are maintained by Aarong is discussed in this report precisely. After that I did a brief discussion about the effectiveness of the recruitment and selection process of the Project staffs.

4.2: My Job

This part of my internship report is all about my job responsibilities which I was assigned to do at Aarong.

As I have done major in Human Resource Management, I did my internship in HR department of Aarong. I was supervised by the HR executive of Aarong and Ayesha Abed Foundation who has the overall control for HR activities over the project staffs of Aarong. My job was to assist her with all sort of HR activities related with project staffs. It includes the recruitment and selection activities of project staffs. I got opportunity to play an active role in each steps of the recruitment and selection process of Sales Associates by which I got to learn the practical aspects of recruitment and selection process. Along with that I had opportunity to work a little for Aarong's Performance Management System. The job and responsibilities which I was assigned to is briefly given below;

CV Sorting: Due to recruiting Sales Associates, who are known as project staffs I use to sort out CVs out of various resources. The CV of all the candidates is collected from internal sources and external sources such as bdjobs.com (online web resource of pool of CVs), all the outlets of Aarong over the country etc. According to the requisition from all the outlets, I used to sort pool of CVs with checking the reference properly. The requirement of short listing the candidates are;

- The age of the candidate has to be within 18- 28
- The candidates has to be continuing study especially under graduate study
- The educational background has to be from any board except Madrassa
- According to the photo of the CV, the candidates have to look smart and formal enough to meet one of the capabilities.

Thus the CV of the candidates were sorted out and shortlisted in excel file for interview calling.

Calling for Interview and Joining: After sorting out the CV and short listing them I used to call the shortlisted candidates for both interview and joining. The day before interview, I had to call the shortlisted candidates for interview mentioning the time slot and date with the office address. And After the training session of selected candidates, I had to call them for the second time for joining formalities.

Listing for Interview and Training: I had to list up the candidates name with interview time slot along with their contact number and father's name for interview session. I also had to list up the details information of candidates who gets selected for training session.

Joining Formalities: One of the most important responsibilities I was assigned for is to attain joining formalities of the final selected Sales associates after training. For joining sales associates has to submit documents such as educational certificates, passport and stamp size photos and recent paper of graduation and reference letter to join the required outlet. My job was to cross check the references with the main copy and collecting their paper for making files of individuals. Besides, I was also assigned to make them filling up joining form of Sales associates with proper manners and process. Then I had to issue access card to them for joining at their selected outlets.

Filling and Pin Providing: After collecting the documents of individual sales associates, I used to make files for individual and provide PIN for each sales associates. PIN is the code number which is given to every project and management staffs of Aarong after their joining to selected departments and outlets.

Making Appointment letter: I was also assigned to make appointment letter of project staffs right after making individual files and providing PIN. As soon as the appointment letter would have been made, it was sent to the deployed outlets of Sales Associates.

Database Entry: To keep online record of each Sales Associates into the Human Resource Management System, I use to give entries of sales Associates and other project staffs (Cook, Assistant Cook, Restaurant Supervisor etc.) with their personal and educational information by taking help from their submitted documents. It has to be done within the month they used to join.

Deployment and Handover listing: Deployment list is the list of Sale Associates joined in different outlets on different dates. I used to make deployment list mentioning their deployed outlets with more personal information. I also had to make handover list for each month, where

I needed to make a record of all the Sales Associates according to the outlets and the month they joined and reconfirm their individual files and HRMS updates.

Database entry for Confirmation: After 6 months of probation period, Sales associates get confirmation of their job. My task was to give entry for confirmation into HRMS after 6 months of probation period of Sales Associates.

Thus, I had to follow all these above mentioned tasks and responsibilities every time when the recruitment and selection of Sales Associates took place.

Learning Aspects from Aarong:

During my internship period, I got opportunities to learn about practical knowledge and environment of corporate office. Aarong has given chance to be a little part of the organization for a very short period of time but with so many responsibilities. I also got chance to learn and have idea about how PMS (Performance Management System) is conducted. Moreover, my overall learning aspects from Aarong are given below;

- Performing organizational norms, etiquette and culture in a proper manner
- Taking responsibilities and completing within deadline
- Experiencing the relationship between academic learning with practical activities conducted at Aarong
- Maintaining the responsibilities with proper procedures and transparency
- Working under maximum pressure
- Relation between different departments within organization

5: Research Gap

While making this report, I faced some difficulties. The limitations for my research are as follows;

- Deficiency of Updated Information: The information of secondary source such as the information of the official website is not updated.
- Confidential Information: Due to organization policy and restriction, it was really hard to collect information as it was confidential.
- Time Limitation: 3 months of internship period is not enough to get a complete report done with proper information. It is really difficult to understand the overall organization within this short period of time.
- Deficient Area of Knowledge: As I was assigned for specific responsibilities in Aarong, It is difficult to have all sort of knowledge and know how about all the departments and relation between them with their activities.

6: Research Question

The questionnaire I made for the research was on the basis of retention rate and turnover status of Sale Associates, the project staffs. The status of retention and turnover ratio would help me to find out the possibility of clear vision of Aarong's maintenance of effective recruitment and selection procedures. I also tried find out the hiring cycle, cost of per hire, offer acceptance rate etc. which would help me to understand the measurement of effective recruitment of Aarong. I needed to understand to what extent Aarong defines effectiveness of a recruitment and selection process and their recommendation for any changes they like to make. To find out the outcome of the effective recruitment and selection of project staffs, I needed to find out the measuring tools that Aarong follows to conduct an effective recruitment and selection process. Besides, the challenges which Aarong faces for maintaining effective recruitment and selection process also a purpose of the questionnaire.

7: Research Objective

The main objective of this report is to conduct the summary of Aarong as the organization and to analyze the effectiveness recruitment and selection process of project staffs of Aarong. But the internship program includes two types of objectives. They are described as follows;

8: Methodology

The information I have collected and used for this report are taken from various resources. In order to find out the effectiveness of recruitment and selection process of Aarong, I have used different methods to collect and represent information. Most of the data is collected by qualitative research method. I have collected data from two types of data. Which are;

- Primary Data and
- Secondary Data

Primary Data – Primary data is known as the data which are collected by direct observation and first-hand experience. I prepared this report with extensive use of primary data. The data is collected from group of people of HR department who are directly related to recruitment and selection process of project staffs of Aarong. - The official website of Aarong,
- Different articles published in Aarong's magazines,
- Financial Statements
- Different reports of Aarong

9: Data Collection

Previously I have already mentioned that I did qualitative research for data collection. To be more specific, I have collected information following purposive sampling which goes under non probability sampling.

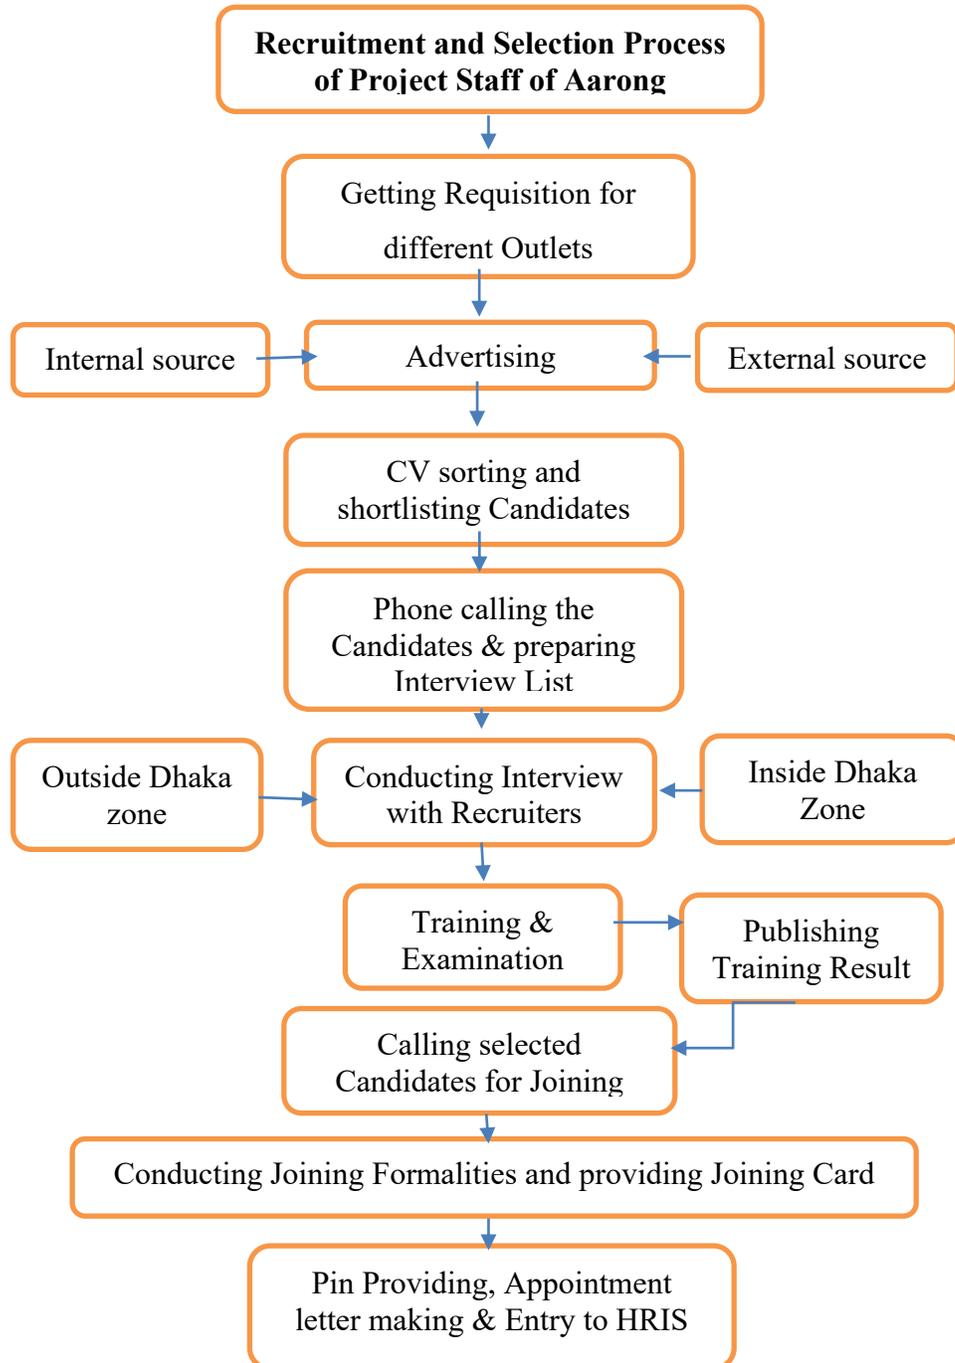

According to the theory of non-probability sampling, it is the sampling method by which the samples are chosen for specific purpose and non-randomly with a pre-determined basis of selection. Following this method I have non-randomly selected the samples due to collect relevant data of the research. More precisely, I have chosen to do purposive sampling or judgmental sampling because it is related to the group of participants designated according to the pre-selected criteria related to particular research questions.

My purpose was to collect data related to effectiveness of recruitment and selection process of project staffs. Therefor I needed to collect retention ratio and turnover ratio with the causes and initiatives to be taken for retention. I have specifically selected the Assistant Manager of Grievance and Separation as one of the purposive samples to get data related to those criteria. Besides, I have interviewed Assistant Manager of Recruitment and Selection to get the data of hiring cycle, cost per interview, offer acceptance ratio of candidates etc. of project staffs.

According to the theory of purposive sampling, the sample size for the research was precisely selected to fulfil research objective.

10: Data Analysis

In this part of the research, I have described about the process of recruitment and selection of Project staffs and also its effectiveness. The process of recruitment and selection is conducted by following some important steps. The chart of the overall process of recruitment and selection process is given below;

Aarong strictly follows the steps mentioned in the chart for recruitment and selection of project staffs. To find out the effectiveness of this procedure, I have taken 4 different criteria to measure and analyze.

They are as follows;

1. Turnover Ratio
2. Retention Ratio
3. Hiring Cycle
4. Cost and Time Analysis

For measuring and analyzing these 4 factors, I have taken the data of 2016 of sales associate. According to the data of 2016, I found the following information of Sales Associates;

Total Number Of Sale Associate	1480
Turnover Rate	275
Lead time per Hiring	1 Month
Recruitment cost per Hiring	1500-2500/= (For Dhaka Zone), 3000/= or above (For outside of Dhaka Zone)
Retention Ratio	81.41%

Table 2 Data of Sales Associates in 2016

10.1: Turnover Ratio

Turnover ratio is one of the important fact to measure because it can reflect the effectiveness of recruitment and selection process. The less turnover ratio the more effective recruitment and selection process. To find out the turnover ratio I followed the given formula;

$$\text{Turnover Ratio of Sales Associate} = \frac{\text{Turnover Rate}}{\text{Total Number of Sales Associate}}$$

$$= 275/1480$$

$$= 0.1858 \text{ or } 18.58 \%$$

So, the turnover ratio of sales Associates is 18.58 %

Reasons of Turnover: There are some certain reasons which results into turnover. The reasons which causes turnover of Sales Associates are given below in the chart;

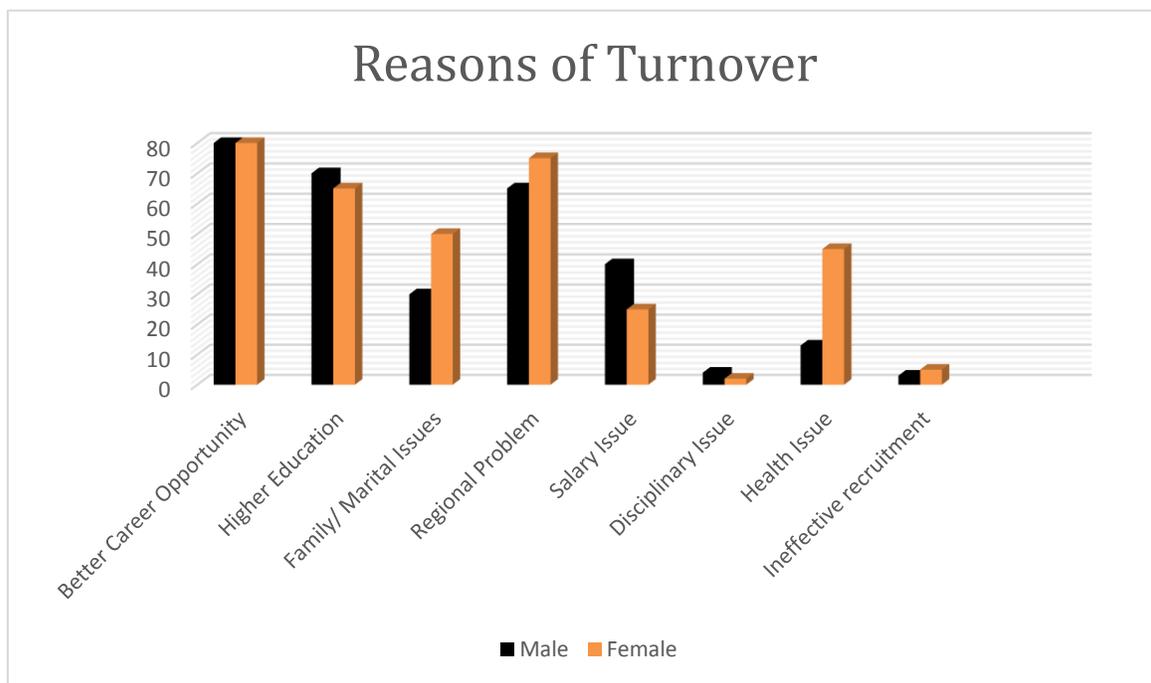

Table 3 Reasons of Turnover of Sales Associates

Interpretation: This chart is based on the collected data of qualitative research done for meeting the objective of this research. The chart is showing the rate of the factors for male and female individually which causes turnover of project staffs. The male and female bar in the chart shows different rate for different factors of turnover.

10.2: Retention Ratio

It is highly important to know about the retention ratio of Sales Associate to understand about the effectiveness of recruitment and selection process. The greater retention rate the greater effectiveness of the process. To figure out the retention rate, I have subtracted the turnover rate from total number of Sales Associates;

$$\begin{aligned}\text{Retention Rate} &= \text{Total Number of Sales Associates} - \text{Turnover Rate} \\ &= 1480 - 275 \\ &= 1205\end{aligned}$$

$$\begin{aligned}\text{Retention Ratio in Percentage} &= \text{Retention Rate} / \text{Total Number of Sales Associates} \\ &= 1205/1480 \\ &= 0.8141 \text{ or } 81.41 \%\end{aligned}$$

So the Retention Ratio of Sales Associates is 81.41%

Retention Strategies: To hold and increase the retention rate of sales associates, Aarong follows some effective strategies. The following strategies helps to mitigate turnover ratio of sales Associates.

- Salary Adjustment
- Promotion and increasing grade
- Free transport facility
- Paid leave for higher education and accidental issue
- Maternity leave for 6 months
- Internship Opportunity
- High probability to get internally recruited

Aarong maintains these strategies very effectively which lowers down the turnover ratio than retention rate. The following chart shows the yearly fluctuation of retention and turnover rate according to different slots of Sales Associates;

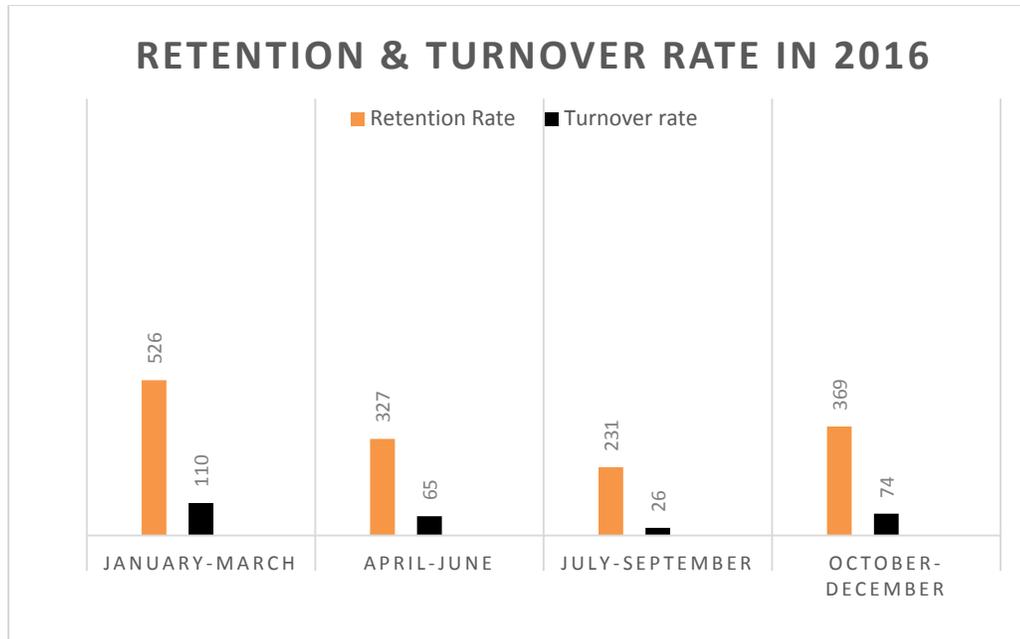

Table 4: Retention & Turnover Rate of Sales Associates

Interpretation: In the chart I have showed 4 time slots of the condition of retention and turnover rate of project staff of 2016. Each slot is prepared with 3 months with 2 different bars which contain the amount of retention and turnover rate of Sales Associates over 3 months of period. Here, in the first slot of January to March, the retention rate was 526 where turnover rate was 110. The rest of the slots are alike the first slot which show different amount of retention and turnover rate of Sales Associates in different slots.

10.3: Hiring Cycle

It is really very important to know about the hiring cycle and lead time of recruitment of project staffs to find out effectiveness of recruitment and selection process. The longer period of hiring cycle, the more effective recruitment and selection process becomes. Hiring cycle of Aarong's Project staffs varies from Management staffs. According to my observation and information given by HR Executive of Aarong, the lead time of recruiting the project staffs is about 1-1.5 months. Sometimes it changes depending on the sudden requisition of any outlets of Aarong for any kind of emergency.

Interpretation: This chart shows a continuous process of recruitment and selection of project staffs of Aarong. After requisition, the interview and training is conducted to select the project staffs finalizing their deployed area/outlets. Right after 1-1.5 months of deployment of project staffs, Aarong gets new requisition and this process keeps continuing.

10.4: Cost & Time Analysis

The effectiveness of recruitment and selection process can be visualized by efficiency of cost and time for the process. The cost for each recruitment and selection process of project staffs varies depending on some criteria. The criteria's are like;

- Involvement of Recruiters
- Involvement of Intern (If interns are related to recruitment and selection process)
- Advertisement
- Administrative Expenses
- Technological Support (Telephone, Internet posting)

➤ Training

The general cost of per hiring process is given below in the table;

Factors	Cost
Advertising Cost (Poster, Internet posting)	200/=
Technological Cost (Telephone)	200/=
Administrative Cost	200/=
Snacks and Beverage Cost	100/=

Table 5 Cost per Hiring of Project Staff of Aarong

Interpretation: The cost of per hiring process includes the above expenses. Among them, the involvement cost of recruiters and cost of training cannot be collected because of organization policy. According to the HR executive of Aarong, the total cost per hire of project staffs is about 1500-2500/= taka in average.

But there are few cases for which this cost of hiring might get changes. The conditions can be like;

- The cost gets comparatively lower when the recruitment and selection procedure is conducted in the working day
- Unlike the working day, the cost gets higher when the recruitment and selection process takes place on a weekend

Most of the time, the recruitment and selection process is conducted on working day rather than weekend. The recruitment and selection process is hardly conducted on weekend once in 3 or 4 months.

Time Analysis: Time efficiency is the metric which focuses on tracking of speed of hiring quality candidates. One of the most critical part of maintaining time efficiency is to fill the vacancy and also to select right candidates within time schedule of requisition. Aarong gets requisition for project staffs on each month but the number of required sales associates or project staffs varies on every requisition. Here, the time schedule which Aarong maintains to hire project staffs after getting requisition is given below;

Recruitment Activities & Day	Requisition	Advertisement	CV Sorting, Screening & Calling for Interview	Interview & Selection For Training	Training & Test	Joining	Deployment
Day 1
Day 2-6
Day 7
Day 8
Day 11
Day 13-14
Day 15

Table 6: Time Schedule of Recruitment & Selection of Project Staffs

Interpretation: This table shows the schedule of recruitment and selection process of project staffs. The rows show the activities conducted for the process on the specific day and the days are shown in column of the table. After getting requisition for hiring on the first day, the advertisement is done from 2nd day of getting requisition till 6th day. Right after that day CVs are sorted, screened and the shortlisted candidates are called for interview. The interview is conducted on the 8th day and candidates get selected for training. The training is conducted after few days or at least after 2 days. After training the result of the test get published minimum after one day and joining of the project staffs are done within 13th to 14th day. Approximately on the 15th day of the month, Sales Associates get deployed to their selected outlets according to the requisition.

11: Findings

In this part of the report, I am going to describe about the findings of the analysis. I have analyzed 4 different factors due to find out the effectiveness of recruitment and selection process of Project Staffs. The findings of my analysis regarding those 4 factors are explained below;

- In the part of Turnover Ratio I have analyzed the overall turnover ratio in percentage of project staffs of 2016. The turnover ratio of project staffs is 18.58% of total number of sale associates. So, it clears that the rest amount are the retention number of project staffs. Therefore, I figured out the percentage of retention ratio of project staff which is 81.14%
- In table 3, I have made a chart with the reasons of turnover of project staffs. The factors which increases the turnover ratio of project staffs the most are better opportunity in other organization and also higher education. As most of the project staffs are students, the factors mentioned in the table effects to cause turnover.
- In the same table, I have also shown the rate of ineffective recruitment process which causes turnover of project staffs of Aarong. The rate of ineffective recruitment is only about 3-4% which happens hardly once or twice a year due to not getting proper amount of required male or female sales associates. But this factor of turnover holds the least rate to cause turnover.
- In the retention ratio part, I found out the percentage of retention rate of project staffs of Aarong which is 81.14%. According to the data of 2016, I made the table of Retention and Turnover Rate (Table 4), where I have shown the amount of retention and turnover rate of 4 different time period of 2016. Each slot of 3 months shows that the ratio of retention is higher than the turnover rate. In the first slot, the retention rate is about 526 where turnover rate is 110. Alike this slot, each slots of 3 months shows higher amount of retention rate where turnover rate remained much lower all through the year. So, the continuous higher rate of retention through 2016 proofs that the recruitment and selection process is effective enough to select right project staffs.

- In the hiring cycle part, I discussed about lead time of recruitment of project staffs and also about the cycle of hiring and selecting them. The lead time of hiring project staffs is 1 to 1.5 months. According to John W, Boudreau, the author of “Effective Human Resource Management, A Global Analysis”, the longer lead time defines that right people has been staffed in an organization as the requisition for new staffing requires after longer period of time. Aarong gets requisition for new hiring of project staffs on every month but with different amount of required sales associates. According to the data given in figure 3 shows the hiring cycle of project staffs. Aarong’s HR executive claims that the duration of 1 month is standard period of lead time for hiring new project staffs of Aarong.
- Cost and Time analysis is another important metric to find out the effectiveness of hiring and selecting project staffs. Aarong maintains the recruitment and selection process cost effectively. The cost of involvement of recruiters and training cost are confidential data but still I got to know the overall cost per hiring of project staffs including them. The amount of cost per hiring in average is only 1500-2500 taka. This amount of expense for per hiring is very much reasonable for an Organization like Aarong by which almost more than 100 project staffs get selected by the recruitment process. Sometimes one recruitment and selection process covers the requisition of next month with selected candidates of previous month. So it is clear enough to understand how cost effective Aarong’s Recruitment and Selection process of project staff is.
- In the time analysis I have shown the time schedule (Table 6) of recruitment and selection process of project staff to figure out the efficiency of the whole process. Table 6 shows that after getting the requisition, Aarong completes the overall recruitment process (from interview to deployment) within 15 days only. As I played a role in recruiting and selecting the project staffs, I observed and experienced how efficiently the tasks were done. Completing all the activities of recruitment and selection process for more than 150 candidates by 15 days is definitely efficient enough to hire right project staffs. As I previously discussed that retention rate is higher than turnover rate, it is clear that “right” project staffs get selected effectively and efficiently on time.

In a nutshell, all the information included above verifies that the process of recruitment and selection in Aarong is effective.

12: Recommendation

According to my observation and analysis of the report, some recommendation can be suggested to Aarong for more improved and effective recruitment and selection process of its projects staffs. The recommendations are given below;

- Updated Information on Website: The information given on the official website of Aarong is not updated. The candidates of Aarong might need minimum preparation regarding the interview due to have knowledge of the organization and its retail stores. The non-updated information will make the candidates as well as any people misinformed about Aarong.
- CV Selection: During the selection of the CVs for project staffs (sales associates) Aarong does not prioritize about well formatted CV with updated educational information and signature of candidates. It is very important part of sorting out the CV to choose right people for the organization. Aarong should give importance to sort out CVs with proper format and information of candidates.
- Online resume submitting System: Aarong should provide the opportunity to the candidates to submit their CVs online. It is really difficult to sort tons of CVs manually which is very time consuming. Furthermore the CV dropping procedures entirely depends on the candidate's attendance. Therefor Aarong must avail the process to drop CV online.
- Technological Support: Aarong should create a software to convey the message of selection to all the selected candidates at once. I recommend Aarong to develop such process to make the selection process efficient and effective.
- Written Test before Interview: Aarong conducts only interview for recruiting Sales Associates but no written test. Written test before interview can be very effective to choose best of best employees from pool of candidates. Aarong should arrange written test for sales associates before conducting interview for effective recruitment.
- Psychometric tests: Aarong should take psychometric test of the candidates for sales associates to measure candidate's suitability for the actual job so that Aarong can hire right employees for right job. It will also help Aarong to find out the candidate's behavioral styles and personal characteristics which is definitely very important factors to play the role of sales Associate.

- Training after Selection: Aarong provides training to the candidates after interview to finally get selected. Later on the selected candidates get training again not before their job conformation but after the interview. The selected candidate should get more training session on some specific aspects such as; career path with the support of Aarong, benefits from retail store, product and customer service, about the organization etc. right after getting selected as project staffs. This would help Aarong to reduce the rate of turnover of project staffs.
- Medical Check Up: Aarong should provide medical checkup for all the newly joined candidates of Sales Associates so that it can take any sort of precaution of any vital disease and also get understand about the selected employees health issues. It will help Aarong to control turnover issue.

These are the possible recommendation for Aarong to make the recruitment and selection process of Project Staff (Sales Associates) more effective and efficient.

13: Conclusion

Aarong is not only the successful retail fashion house but more than that. Being a social enterprise of BRAC, Aarong is always dedicating to improve and develop internally and thus it has evolved itself as a successful leading brand of the nation. Aarong allows diversity among all kinds of people including minorities and women.

Aarong has given me a field to learn about practical aspects of Human Resource Management. I derived the organizational etiquettes, professionalism from Aarong. Alongside, Aarong taught me to tactfully take decision in any difficult situation. I also learnt the recruitment and selection process of sales associates of Aarong. In this report I have tried to fulfil the all the criteria that was needed to complete the report with proper verification. To conclude, I am overwhelmed by the fact that Aarong has given me a platform to enhance my practical learnings.
