“Marvel The Club Fair” ends at BRACU

A 3-day “Marvel The Club Fair” came to an end in BRAC University (BRACU) on July 3, 2018 with the screening of this year's superhero flick “Black Panther”, a food fest comprising Lovello, Sbarro and Madchef, and performances by BRAC University Cultural Club.

Organised every semester by the Office of Co-curricular Activities, the club fair aims to inform freshmen of the university's 27 student-based organisations which they could join to cultivate leadership skills and teamwork. This time it was organised in association with BRAC University Film Club and sponsored by app-based transportation service provider MUV Asia.

Prof. Md Abdul Mottalib, Chairperson, the Department of Computer Science and Engineering and a freedom fighter, inaugurated the event; homage to freedom fighters of the 1971 Liberation War was paid every day through observance of a moment of silence, lighting of candles and playing the National Anthem.

The fair's highlight was the screening of an interview-based documentary “Merciless Mayhem” of Fuad Chowdhury on the second day. The day also included a views-exchange session of students with filmmaker Animesh Aich and artist Joya Ahsan, whose birthday was also celebrated.

Students of different clubs engaged in drama, dance and musical performances along with guest band Mechanix throughout the event.
