BRACU Pro VC receives WEC award

BRAC University (BRACU) Pro-Vice-chancellor Prof Md. Golam Samdani Fakir received the World Education Congress Global Award-2012 in India recently for his ‘outstanding contribution in teaching and learning’.

A number of distinguished personalities from across the world including Education Minister Nurul Islam Nahid and several others from Bangladesh were also given the award at a function held at hotel Taj Land End, Mumbai.

The focus of this year’s World Education Congress was “Learning in the 21st Century: Rights and Access to Education” and it brought hundreds of global personalities in education and academics from 88 countries under one roof.

Prof. Md. Golam Samdani Fakir presented a paper on the occasion titled “Building a Vision for Higher Education: The Experiences of Teaching and Learning Centre (TLC) at BRAC University,” a press release by the private university said.
