The undergraduate orientation program of Fall 2014 was held on 8 September at Mohakhali Campus of BRAC University. Professor Syed Saad Andaleeb, Vice Chancellor, graced the welcoming ceremony as the chief guest. Professor Fuad Hassan Mallick, Pro-Vice Chancellor, Professor Riaz Partha Khan, Dean of Student Affairs Office and Teaching Learning Centre, Professor Firdous Azim, Chairperson of English and Humanities and Lady Syeda Sarwat Abed, Director, BRAC Institute of Language spoke on the occasion. Among others, Treasurer, Registrar, Heads of all departments, faculty members and administrative staff were present to welcome the enthusiastic fresh undergraduate.

Professor Andaleeb emphasized on team work and cooperation in regular studies and drew attention upon BRAC University's holistic approach in educational development. Professor Fuad Hassan Mallick encouraged and motivated the students to be better persons as the receivers of higher education. Professor Riaz Partha Khan covered details about BRACU procedures, system, rules and regulations and about BRACU expectations from the students. Lady Syeda Sarwat Abed spoke in details about first year curriculum.

There was an interactive dialog session between the concerned personnel and the guardians for better understanding of BRAC University campus life and co-curricular activities which both of the bodies found effective.

The discussion session also included four video presentations covering important aspects of the university, Alumni Reflections, a glimpse of enriched BRAC University library and residential semester at Savar Campus.
