Executive Summary

Bangladesh is a third world country with an under developed banking system, particularly in terms of the services and customer care provided by the government run banks. Recently the private banks are trying to imitate the banking structure of the more developed countries, but this attempt is often foiled by inexpert or politically motivated government policies executed by the central bank of Bangladesh, Bangladesh Bank. The outcome is a banking system fostering corruption and illegal monetary activities/laundering etc. by the politically powerful and criminals, while at the same time making the attainment of services or the performance of international transactions difficult for the ordinary citizens, students studying abroad or through distance learning, general customers etc.

From few years ago, some Western Banks started come in Bangladesh to expand their business by opening new corporate office. By providing world class customers services they try to satisfy local customers. At present, their most of the customers are rich people and corporate. They offer various try of saving facility for them. But general public do not prefer Western Banks because of huge deposit amount with lower interest rate, loan facility with high interest rate and easy way of account opening.

In this report, I try to present overall consumer perception about Western Banking Services in Bangladesh. Why Bangladeshi people accepted Western Banks and their position in Bangladesh are included here as well.

I am also included here, sorting of foreign banks and foreign named Bangladeshi banks as well as name & origin both are Bangladeshi. This report provides some recommendation for Western Banking services.

2.5 Methodology

✓ Research Design:

There are two types of data found and used in conducting the study. Information collected to finish this report has been collected from both primary and secondary sources.

   ➢ Face to face conversation with consumers.
   ➢ Observation.

b. Secondary Source
   ➢ Books
   ➢ Net browsing

a. Primary Data
The primary data has been collected from face to face conversation with respective consumers by using a questionnaire. I also learned and collected data by observing the customer services of Western Banks and National Banks.

b. Secondary Data
The secondary data has been collected from related text books.

✓ Duration
12 weeks within the period of three months internship program.

✓ Sample Size
Randomly ten (10) bank consumers were selected for the information purpose. The way in which sampling is conducted is only a part of the total design of a searching process.

2.6 Limitation

☒ The primary limitation of this research is the time constraint. Time has not permitted to do an extensive research.
☒ I think most of consumers are not interested to answer my question.
Interviewing is a method of qualitative research in which the researcher asks open-ended questions orally and records the respondent’s answers. Interviewing is typically done face-to-face, but can also be done via telephone.

3.1 In-depth Interview

In-depth interviews are different from survey interviews in that they are less structured. In survey interviews, the questionnaires are rigidly structured – the questions must all be asked in the same order, the same way, and only the pre-defined answer choices can be given.

The in-depth interview is also a qualitative method of analysis, which proceeds as a confidential and secure conversation between an interviewer and a respondent. By means of a thorough composed interview guide, which is approved by the client, the interviewer ensures that the conversation encompasses the topics that are crucial to ask for the sake of the purpose and the issue of the survey.

3.2 Projective Method

A projective method is one sort of psychotherapy. The main concept of projective methods is people are more frequently able to capture their feelings from others such as animals or cartoons or other people then they express these feeling to their behavior.

In the word, Projective techniques use verbal or visual stimuli which, through their indirection and concealed intent, encourage respondents to reveal their unconscious feelings and attitudes without being aware that they are doing so.

3.2.1 Word Association

In 1988, Gordon and Langmaid trace the earliest use of word association to Sir Francis Galton in 1879. Word association means to give participants a series of unrelated word one at a time and have they responded with the first thing that comes into their mind. For an example, one of the word is “Deposit” that word might be a facility of a bank or an amount what comes first in a person mind. It also helps to measure the participant’s response as an indication of how familiar and comfortable the person in with this association.
3.2.2 Sentence Completion

Sentence completion is intended to get unguarded top-of-mind association, but provided more of a stimulus than a single word. For example, in general, I think western Banking is………..

3.2.3 Thematic Apperception Test (TAT)

The Thematic Apperception Test (TAT) is a projective measure intended to evaluate a person's patterns of thought, attitudes, observational capacity, and emotional responses to ambiguous test materials. In the case of the TAT, the ambiguous materials consist of a set of cards that portray human figures in a variety of settings and situations. The subject is asked to tell the examiner a story about each card that includes the following elements: the event shown in the picture; what has led up to it; what the characters in the picture are feeling and thinking; and the outcome of the event.
4.1 What is Western Banking

In a simple sense, Western Banking or Foreign Banking is that obligate to follow the regulations of both the home and host countries. A Western Bank mainly opens a foreign branch in order to provide more services to their multinational corporation customers. Because of following dual banking regulations, a Western Banking operation is more complicated than Domestic Banks or National Banks. For an example, Standard Chartered is a British multinational banking. They have around 26 (twenty six) branch in Bangladesh. They would be legally obligated to maintain both counties regulations.

So they can work as a NOSTRO bank in time of fund transfers between two countries. Western Banking also provides high quality customer services to their clients. Their operation system is faster than National Banks as well. And some respondents said that they are less time consuming, provided better services, and offered variety in products. These are the extra advantages of Western Banking.
4.5 Western Banking Fund Transfer

All respondents said that, since Western Banks are foreign bank in our country that’s why their transferring funds between county to country is more trust worthy, fast, effective and easy. They also take short time than National Banks.

In case of individual deposit facility, some direct users of Western Banks deposit facility said that they more prefer National Banks than western Bank because Western Bank’s deposit interest rate is lower than National Banks according to deposit amounts. But they are secured. On the other hand, non deposit users think that western Banks interest rate is higher but they do not go there only because of large deposit amounts. Western Banks deposit facilities are good for corporate sectors.

4.9 Loan Facility of Western Bank

Western Banks provide good loan facility for corporate sectors. But they charge high interest rate (not less than 20%).

4.10 Foreign Trade Activity

Most of the respondents said that foreign trade activity means export import activities like L/C opening, dollar payment ect. They also think that Western Banks are very active in foreign trade related task.

Western Banks’ bank charges are higher than National Banks. People think that it is a one kind of income source of banks.

4.12 Customers Quality

Their main customers are corporate organizations and rich people. Only higher class people can deal with Western Banks. For this reason, their number of customers is comparatively lower than National Banks. Because working class people think that Western Banks are not for them.

4.13 Banking Service

Western Banking is very reputed in Bangladesh only for world class customer services. They prefer their customers first. They also try to provide excellent, fast and accurate customer services.

4.14 Satisfaction Level

Only because of world class customer services, customers are very satisfied on Western Banks. Their working environment is very good as well.

4.15 Corporate Facility

Most of the clients of Western Banks come from corporate sectors. Their corporate facilities are very well.
