1.1 BACKGROUND OF THE STUDY

The business environment is changing more rapidly than ever before. It is characterized by increasing competition from both domestic and foreign companies, a brandish of mergers and acquisitions, and more sophisticated and demanding customers who have great expectations related to their consumption experiences. There are times when product that were thought to be of high quality, that every market test and analysis concluded were going to be a hit with the market failed miserably. When that happens there is a tendency to either blame the producer, the marker research company or even the economy. However in many cases it turns out that it is not just about the quality of the product; presentation of the product is also an essential component of the sales process.

Sales are dependent on good marketing. A huge part of retail marketing is visual merchandising. Those retail organizations that understand the concept are the most successful in the industry today. Retailers who fail to make the link between good visual merchandising displays and sales continue to struggle.

This project deals with what impact does visual merchandising really have on sales and the comparison of various shelf hiring program followed by different fmcg companies. Square Toiletries Limited has already taken many initiatives to get a better position in the market.

1.2 ORIGIN OF THE REPORT

This report is a requirement of the internship program for my BBA program. My supervisor Mr. Tahsan Rahman Khan assigned me the topic. I have tried my level best to make it as an excellent one. I used all the latest data and information. I have been serving this company as an intern under Marketing Department for three months where I gathered experience on how marketing department works. I got to know many things of Trade marketing. I also got the opportunity to acquire knowledge of different trade programs of Square Toiletries Ltd. I worked under the close supervision of Mr. Fazal Mahmud Roni and my university supervisor Mr. Tahsan Rahman Khan.
1.3 OBJECTIVE OF THE STUDY

- To present an overview of 3 months working experience in STL.
- To get practical experience
- To understand the drive structure of STL
- How Marketing department works at STL
- To have general concept on how other departments work at STL
- To determine the impact of display program
- Usefulness of different strategies
- Achieving sales growth
- To learn how to adjust with new culture, skill and people.
- Relate academic learning with real life learning.

1.4 SCOPE OF THE REPORT

It was an amazing opportunity to work with Square Toiletries Ltd. I got to learn many things from here. Especially I could see that how Marketing Department can create so much effect on such organization. I had the chance to see the whole marketing department from very close. This report gives an overview about the company like about the mission and goals of the company, the functional departments, the strategies, social responsibilities etc.

This report has been prepared through discussion with the marketing department manager, sales representatives and my honorable faculty. While preparing this report, I had a great opportunity to have an in depth knowledge of marketing activities of the “Square Toiletries Ltd.” If the internship program was more than 3 months then am sure I would learn so many things in real life.
1.5 METHODOLOGY

To make the report more meaningful and presentable, two sources of data and information were used widely. Both primary and secondary data sources were used to prepare this report. There are some records collected from various resources of the company. Most of them can be treated as the secondary data. Furthermore, I also attend some outlets survey. That have been used as a medium of collecting data for preparing this report. Primary data that are mainly used are from different persons directly related to Marketing Department on STL. For secondary data collection I went through the website, Annual reports, previous internship reports, journals.

1.6 LIMITATION

One and only limitation was the confidential issues. There were situations when it was very difficult to collect information from the retailers and consumers. In most of the cases they were unwilling to share information also the company policy didn’t allow the officials to share sensitive information about the company.

3.3.4 Worked for promotional activities of KOOL:

During the ICC cricket world cup 2015, STL operated a campaign of KOOL; Men’s grooming brand. I had written a letter on behalf of Mashrafe Bin Mortaza, Cricketer & Brand ambassador of KOOL to all the sales representatives and distributors of STL to motivate them towards achieving target. Writing that letter on behalf of Mashrafe was a challenging task for me. I had to think myself as a fighting cricketer while writing that letter. It was completely a new experience for me and I enjoyed a lot. This letter was sent to all the Sales representatives of Bangladesh as well as to all the retailers.

3.3.5 Worked for Activation of Select Plus:

I worked for the activation of Select Plus anti dandruff Shampoo in different Air conditioned saloons of Dhaka city. My responsibility was assisting the Brand Manager to convert the barbers to brand promoters for Select Plus. We provided barbers with branded (Select plus & Shop name) black half shirt and aprons. We had to hang large branded panel board for internal shop branding and STL provided free samples of Select Plus Shampoo. Since it was a week-long activation program, I had to remain busy for this program for the entire week. The activation took place in Mirpur, Dhanmondi and Mohammadpur.

3.3.6 Visiting markets and making report on the information found in market visit:

I had been assigned by my supervisor to go for market visit in order to collect information of different shelf hiring packages of different fmcg companies. I had to visit the markets of DCC (Gulshan) and Mohakhali Kacha bazar. I also had to collect information about competitors, TP, MRP, trade offer, bonus, etc. After visiting the markets, I made a report and submitted to my supervisor.

3.3.7 Conducting Shelf hiring program

My supervisor also had given me the responsibility to conduct a shelf hiring program for one month on Meril Splash Beauty Soap in three shops of Mohakhali. I successfully completed my assigned task.

3.3.8 Everyday Operations (keeping records and data entry):

Data entry in the excel file was the part of my regular activity as an Intern in STL. I entered the Data of Senora whole sale program for the months of Jan, Feb and March’15 in Excel file on regular basis. I had to count and keep the records of letters for ‘Meril Baby-aadore gora vobisshot’.

4.1 INTRODUCTION

The retail environment now a day is becoming more and more challenging. It is characterized by increasing competition from both domestic and foreign companies, a spate of mergers and acquisitions, and more sophisticated and demanding customers who have great expectations related to their consumption experiences. Since services are intangible, heterogeneous, and inseparable, it is difficult to measure service quality objectively. So the companies have focus to so many different aspects in order to ensure their sales.

In retail business, shelf hiring plays a key role. The current business world is so much competitive that everyday companies are coming up with new strategies to attract the consumers and also to increase sells. In a research it has been seen that 90% of consumers don’t have any pre-mindset of buying a specific brand while doing shopping of fast moving consumer goods. They buy whatever first comes in their eye and also whatever they find attractive. They don’t care that much about the brand as all of them are of almost same quality. That’s why shelf hiring becomes so important. For companies who are doing business in the FMCG sectors it’s their last and final chance to influence customers to buy their products.

In this chapter I will discuss about the definition of visual merchandising, it’s importance, why do we need it, how to Implement an effective Visual Display using psychology etc.

4.2 WHAT IS VISUAL MERCHANDISING?

Visual merchandising displays are the presentation of products, packaging and pricing in a way that it appeals to a target market. It is a way of promoting the sale of products at a retail store incorporating the principles of: the right merchandise sold at the right place at the right season, at the right price, at the right time.

Beauty may be in the eye of the beholder however, we can influence shopper’s behavior and predisposition to buy our products by the way in which it is displayed. It takes passion, creativity and dynamism to create an effective display that captivates the mind.
Merchandise displays must convey the goals, philosophy and brand of the retail organization. It also needs to tell a story that relates directly to the prospective buyer.

With so much merchandise available for consumers to choose from, every retailer must understand that the psychology of visual merchandise display is pertinent to them achieving their objectives of enticing the customers and persuading them to buy.

4.3 IMPORTANCE OF VISUAL MERCHANDISING

There are times when products that were thought to be of high quality, that every market test and analysis concluded were going to be a hit with the market failed miserably. When that happens, there is a tendency to either blame the producer, the market research company or even the economy. However in many cases, it turns out that it is not just about the quality of the products; presentation of the product is also an essential component of the sales process.

Sales are dependent on good marketing. A huge part of retail marketing is visual merchandising. Those retail organizations that understand this concept are the most successful in the industry today. Retailers who fail to make the link between good visual merchandising displays and sales continue to struggle.

The most important element of visual merchandise displays is the psychology behind the process. People buy emotionally even though they justify their decision rationally. Consequently, it is imperative that the psychological aspect of visual merchandise display is given prime consideration in any retail organization.
4.4 IMPLEMENTING AN EFFECTIVE VISUAL DISPLAY USING PSYCHOLOGY

- Setting a clear objective of the visual merchandise display. Is it for promotional purposes or to create brand awareness?
- Identifying the target audience and creating a display that appeals to that particular target audience.
- Making the display tell a story; the story of the brand and the products in the store.
- Ensuring the display stand is accessible and never empty.
- Balancing between creativity and customer understanding of the display & refreshing the display frequently.

4.5 RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

4.5.1 Research Purpose:

There are two basic purposes of research: to learn something, or to gather evidence. The main purpose of research has as its main goals the gathering of coherent, verifiable information, and most importantly, timely reporting of that information.

The research purpose of the study was to gather information about different shelf hiring strategy that different FMCG are following, cost of maintaining shelf, duration of shelf and finally the outcome of this activity.
4.5.2 Research Strategy:

The design of research strategy depends on the types of research questions asked. The main function of research design is to explain how we will find answers to our research questions.

4.5.3 Methodology

I mainly adopted a quantitative approach by gathering information by asking different shop owners.

4.6 DATA COLLECTION METHOD

Data was collected through documentation, archival records, interviews and direct observations. The most important sources for the study information are interview of the shop owners.

Both primary and secondary data are used

4.6.1 Primary Data:

I have collected primary data by interviewing sellers and retailers. Primary data were mostly derived from questions asked to the retailers. Primary information is under consideration in the following manner:

- Face to face conversation with the retailers
- By interviewing retailers.

4.6.2 Secondary Data:

- Internal Sources
  - Internal magazine published by STL
  - Information provided by my supervisor

- External Sources:
  - Different books and periodicals
  - Newspapers
  - Internet
4.7 COMPARISON OF SHELF HIRING STRATEGY OF DIFFERENT FMCG COMPANIES

This report gives an overall idea about the different shelf hiring strategy that the companies are following and their influence on the sells. The task was assigned to me as an intern of Square Toiletries Limited (STL) by Mr. Fazal Mahmud Roni, Assistant Manager, Marketing. I was sent to Mohakhali Kacha Bazar to perform the task and also to conduct survey by collecting several information about different toiletries products of some renowned companies.

I have visited in total 18 shops and the information that I gathered from these shops are pretty similar with each other. One of the shops that I visited was SHE-Gallery. The shop is located at the center of Mohakhali Kacha Bazar and the shop is owned by MR. Biplob. The owner has been in this occupation for almost 3 years now and has vast knowledge about different campaigns followed by different companies. Another shop that I visited was shopper palace. The shop has been owned by MR. Anisuzzaman. It’s also situated in mohakhali kacha bazaar and there are currently 3 workers working in the shop along with the seller. Shops like Annana General Store, Rahim store, Mesars General Store, Protity store, Habib Brothers store, Vuia general store, kashem store, Modern shop store, Himalaya herbal store, New Mohakhali store, sunflower kacha bazaar, shopper’s point, Modina general store, Kashem mudi store were also covered while conducting the survey. The most important fact that I learnt while doing this report is that the products that the shop owner or seller displays in their shop’s shelf doesn’t depend on the demand of that particular product but on the advantages that the company is providing to the seller on displaying that product in the shop’s shelf. Like the general people I also had this misconfusion which became clear while doing the survey. Companies that are leading in the shelf hiring system include Unilever, Proctor and Gamble, Square Toiletries, ACI and Marico. Among them Unilever is Holding the top position. In the shelf hiring program Unilever follows 3 different packages. The packages are Blue, Diamond and Purple. The Blue package is the least beneficial one for the seller and the Purple package is the most beneficial. The Diamond package is in the middle of these two packages which carries medium range of benefits for the seller. The company also gives the seller a particular target amount of products to sell in a particular time. If the seller... can fulfill this target then the company gives 5,000-6,000 tk monthly as bonus. Companies like Marico, Square are also giving these additional benefits to the seller. Not fulfilling the target sells also results a deduction in the amount of Tk. The seller also receives a certain amount of money for hanging the product’s sticker of those companies on the shop. Unlike Marico and Uniliver; Square and P & G are not giving the sellers these additional benefits for displaying the product’s sticker on the company’s display shelf. The target sales that the shop owner is given, is basically monitored by the sale representatives (SR) of those companies. The Sale representatives of each company visits the shops on the assigned date and verify the actual sells.

The shelf hiring program of different fmcg, their advantage, disadvantage, length, cost and other relevant information is mentioned in the next page via a diagram.

5. LESSONS LEARNT FROM INTERNSHIP EXPERIENCE

Working in the Marketing department of STL for 3 months has helped me to increase my experience related to real corporate world. The experience has also gained me experience in the field of public relations and business communication. From my first day at STL, I have been provided the opportunity to participate as an equal member of their marketing team. So far, I have learnt a lot of things:

- I have been introduced to the corporate culture.
- I have learnt how to work effectively in a team in the corporate world.
- I have acquired several technical skills such as how to use Microsoft Office Excel to arrange data and how to create pivot tables.
- Learned a lot of things from Mr. Malik, the Head of Marketing of STL, regarding the application of theoretical concepts of marketing in practical field.
- Learnt the real life execution of 4P’s in marketing. Such as during a campaign development period, how the product is designed, price is fixed and various promotional activities.
- Learnt how to supervise and monitor an activation program successfully as well as how to lead a team effectively.
- Learnt how to communicate with different types of people including customers. Internship program has improved my communication skills and interpersonal skills. I have also learnt how to communicate with clients and make them convinced.
- Internship program has developed my written communication skill. I have learnt how to write a business proposal and report on an event.
- I have acquired knowledge on direct communication. I have learnt how shelf hiring activities take place.
- Learnt how to manage and maintain office time properly and cope with multi-tasking.
- From the experience of market visit, I have gained practical knowledge about business operation in retail and wholesale market.
- Learnt how to work more efficiently under pressure and time management.
- Learnt how to judge the effectiveness of a program or activation.
6. RECOMMENDATION

Though Marketing Department and its field force are very well organized and active but I think they should give more importance about the following matters

➢ Importance on more visibility

Marketing Department team should give more importance on visibility. They should choose more colorful shelf talker, billboard etc. and display all the products more attractive ways so that shoppers can easily notice the product and feel encourage to buy the products.

➢ Give more promotional offer to the retailers and shoppers

To encourage shoppers Marketing Department should give more promotional offer to the shoppers like more free gifts and for the retailers they can give more incentives. They can also arrange different programs for their loyal retailers.

➢ Change the date over or damaged products

Though STL changes their damaged products or date over products regularly but they should do it even more frequently.

➢ Focus on their products delivery timing

Sometimes delivery sales representative cannot reach to the market on time. That’s why retailers couldn’t take all the products according to the order. The reason behind is competitors sales representative comes early which helps them to get more orders for the products.

➢ Event based promotion

STL can arrange special promotion in different events like Eid, New Year and other seasonal events. It is not that they have to make an expensive promotion; they can keep it simple like giving free grocery or non-branded items with any STL product depending on the theme of the event.
Training program for retailers

STL can organize special training program for the retailers where they will be given training on how to deal with customers, maintain long term relationship with them, retail management, marketing of product etc.

Arrangement of Special Events

Square Toiletries Limited can organize special events for the retailers like outing or picnic or arrangements of sports. This will work as a motivation for them.
7. CONCLUSION

Square Toiletries Limited is the leading toiletries company in Bangladesh. I had the opportunity to work for this company during my internship program. I have worked in marketing department of STL. During this time I got an opportunity to observe the overall activities of managing retail environment. Internship program provides the opportunity to gain valuable experience in a working environment to those who are looking for exploring or gaining the relevant knowledge and skills required to enter into a particular field. Generally, an internship consists of an exchange of services for experience between the student and an organization. An intern should utilize this opportunity to gather as much as knowledge and experience for the future. I consider myself lucky since I got the opportunity to do my Internship program in a renowned FMCG company like Square Toiletries Limited that provided me enough exposures to enhance my ability and enrich my experience.

Finally, I would say that this internship at STL has increased my practical knowledge of Business Administration and made my BBA education more complete and applied.
