

‘Distinguished Scholars Series’ public lecture at BRAC University

BRAC University hosted renowned Professor Joya Chatterji, a fellow of Trinity College, director of the Centre of South Asian Studies and the editor of the journal Modern Asian Studies, as a speaker in their “Distinguished Scholars Series” program on September 23 at the BRAC Centre Inn Auditorium.

Her public lecture focused on a topic based on inter-regional migration of the Bengali people since 1907. She presented her topic on “Being Stuck: Immobility and poverty in a divided Bengal.” A large number of distinguished guests and historians in Dhaka attended the event.

The BRAC University Distinguished Scholars Series is designed to bring innovative, influential and inspiring movers and shakers to the campus of BRAC University to heighten awareness of the academic and wider community to the new horizons of knowledge and enrich their perspectives on contemporary issues. The speakers are chosen from famous academicians, writers, advocates, politicians, business and media experts, statesmen, and designers who have all helped to shape the world in which we live.
