Style Icon Tahsan

Tahsan really needs no introduction. It'll be very hard to find anyone in the country who hasn't heard of him. His introduction into the music scene was met with massive positive response and his popularity continues to rise today.

Although his first identity is that of a musician and singer, he has also successfully ventured into the world of acting. As if all those things weren't impressive enough, he is also a Senior Lecturer at BRAC University! He is not only talented but also highly educated.

Couple that to the fact that he manages to look dashing whatever the occasion and attire and you are looking at the ultimate one man show. He is this week's Showbiz Style Icon.
