INTRODUCTION

1.1 Introduction to Report

I have done my major in human resource management from BRAC Business School. There I have completed four years of the theoretical part of the graduation. Now the rest of the practical part I have completed from HR department of Bay Agro Ind. Ltd. This practical part will be evaluated by my honorable Internship supervisor. For that reason I have prepared this report on the basis of my practical job experience and submitted to my supervisor. The topic of the report is “an overview of HR Manual & procedures” of Bay Agro Ind. Ltd.

As a part of my internship program for my MBA, I got the opportunity to submit my internship report from my Job experience as Executive (HR & Admin) in an agro based company Bay Agro Ind. Ltd. My organizational supervisor was Mr. Jahangir Alam Chowdhury (Asst. General Manager & Head of HR & Admin). My project topics covered the aspects of the HR department and the various issues related to it in respect to the company. The topic was approved by my Internship supervisor Mr. Shamim Ehsanul Haque (Sr. lecturer of BRAC Business School).

1.2 Background of the study

In this era of global business competition where there is no room for any error. Efficiency in production plays a great part. Efficiency in all aspects, passion for gaining advantage is the key for survival and growth. In all trade there’s a saying it’s the people who make all the difference. In Agro based sector especially in poultry industry, human resource department plays a vital role. In this study I would like to share my experience while working with a poultry company named Bay Agro Industries Ltd. In internship my project or objective was in a broader perspective HR management. I have also conducted a small study work on HR driven efficiency.
1.3 Origin of the report
The report is a requirement for internship of my MBA program. Topic has been selected by me as a human resource of Bay Group and I have tried my level best to make it a good one and I have been serving this company as an Executive of human resource development department for the last two and half years almost.

1.4 Objective of the study

General objective
The main objective of this report is to have an assessment about overall activities of Human Resource department. In broader perspective I am still trying to learn all the HR activities besides my regular work.

Specific objective
1. Understand the HR operations of a local agro based company
2. Understand how basic HR activities of Bay Agro Industries Ltd. functions
3. Understand the reason behind the high turnover rate

1.5 Methodologies
To make this report meaningful and presentable, I used primary and secondary research base. Most of the data came from my critical observation, office orders from the higher management and unstructured interview.

1.6 Limitations
- Sample size is very small compared to the entire population
- The research is confined to just one company
- Lack of technical expertise
- Lack of manpower and other resource constraint
- Inadequate access to information (sensitivity of company information) which disrupts the scope of analysis
- Due to the limitations many aspects could not be discussed in the report
1.7 Data collection Method

Data was collected through previous documents, Office order record book, E-mail archival records and highly dependent on observation, unstructured interview and close observation. To find out the system loophole and inefficiency I had to stay few days with the factory and its employees earlier of my career.

1.8. Purpose of the Manual

PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT

8.0 Performance Management System

Performance Appraisal is a process of communication between the person who assigns the work and the person who performs it in terms expectations set at the beginning of a performance year. Employee’s performance throughout the year or in specified period should be evaluated in a fair and systematic manner.

Performance Planning is an important step to engage and enable employees to deliver their contribution to business success. Equally as important to identify and realize personal opportunities for development.

Performance appraisal lets employee know what and how well they are performing and what level of efforts and task directions are needed in future for self-development as well as for Company effectiveness.

Bay Agro Ind. Ltd. values “Pay for Performance” approach, which makes it critical to have a sound process for measuring performance. The tools included in:

- Performance Planning
- Setting Objectives
- Ongoing Feedback
- Mid-term Review
- Annual Performance Appraisal

Board will decide the salary raise of the performance of individual based on his/her achievement over the set objectives

8.1 Performance Planning

Performance plan is a clearly defined plan of action, which are mutually discussed and agreed upon by the supervisor and the supervisees at the beginning of the performance year. The discussion on the expectations and mutual goal setting is an important component of the performance planning process. The performance planning actually begins at the start of the performance period. Expectations must be discussed between supervisors and employees to achieve a clear understanding of Key Result Areas (KRA) of performance.

During the end of the performance year, supervisors and supervisees will discuss and record their expectations for the coming year.

8.2 Setting Objectives

Setting Objectives is a planning tool used to define specific, flexible time-bound objectives that are currently performed by an individual. It also defines indicators that will be used to measure achievement within a specified timeframe. The objectives are one of the key elements of performance planning and progress will be evaluated in the mid-year performance review and annual appraisal process.
Objectives should be set for the coming year during annual performance appraisal process. The objectives can be revised or changed with the mutual understanding of the line manager and supervisee.

In general, an employee will have three to five objectives. It is better to plan a few objectives and accomplish them well. It may be based on priority (project) objectives, new initiatives or personal development objectives.

Priority Objectives are directly related to the Annual Operational Plan of the organization, functions or divisions, where identifying appropriate activities can make significant contributions.

New Initiatives are related to the problems or opportunities of the department or functions, where something innovative can be done to achieve the objectives.

Personal development objectives are related to the development need of the staff.

8.3 Ongoing Feedback

Once the performance planning is done, a Manager's concern must shift to monitor and guide staff performance. The supervisor must review the performance of the employee and provide feedback through Consistent Supervision, Coaching, mentoring and Quarterly Discussion with the supervisee, throughout the performance period. Without review discussions and ongoing performance feedback, an employee's performance cannot be improved.

Consistent Supervision: By consistent supervision, Managers observe subordinate's performance and evaluate how they do their jobs, how do they interact with others.

Managers in terms of quantity always observe employee’s work accomplishments; quality and timeliness and thus they try to identify patterns of behaviors, problems, and to provide solutions for optimum output.

Coaching and Mentoring: These are two important and specific approaches to be used by a Manager as part of staff supervision. Coaching means active measures taken by a Manager to assist in the skill development of an employee. It helps individual to develop plans and build capacity to implement the plans. On the other hand, mentoring is a role model and is more facilitative in nature. A mentor uses his or her own experiences to guide an employee. Mentoring includes setting good examples of appropriate behavior by a Manager to encourage and motivate subordinates.

Regular Review Discussions: The review discussions are formal, scheduled interactions between supervisors and supervisees to discuss achievements to date, revisit KRAs, clarify problems encountered and decide actions to be taken. It should be a two-way dialogue to clarify mutual expectations. There is no standard time table for scheduling of such review discussions within a performance year rather it will apply whenever deemed necessary. However, as an ideal case, both supervisor and supervisee should sit together once in every quarter. It may be once or more in a month in case an employee faces serious performance problems. The Manager or the employee may initiate the periodic review discussion, however, Managers are held accountable for such meet.

8.4 Mid-term Review

Mid-term appraisal is a discussion between the supervisor and the supervisee at mid-year, regarding the performance of past six months. Mid-term performance reviews are required for all employees.
Mid-term review should be held at mid-year. Ideally the mid-term review will be completed by mid-June. In any event, all mid-term reviews should be finished by the end of July at the latest.

This review is a personal discussion between supervisor and supervisee, and should therefore be carried out in a relaxed and informal manner.

Mid-term review should be documented in due manner in the appraisal format.

8.5 Annual Performance Appraisal

The Annual Performance Appraisal covers 12-month cycles consistent with Bay Agro Ind. Ltd.’s financial year (1 January through 31 December).

The Annual Performance Appraisal serves as the basis for the individual performance bonus. Employees who have completed 6 months of job are eligible for the Appraisal.

The Appraisal is an essential tool for employee development. Employees should clearly understand areas where they excel and areas, which need to be improved. Supervisors also should clearly describe the support they may offer to help employees strengthen their performance.

8.6 Performance Appraisal & Development Plan Form Overview

Performance Plan (Key Result Areas)

A well-written Key Result Area (KRA) clearly defines expected results and will conform to as many of the following criteria as possible.

<table>
<thead>

</tbody>

Employee will use these criteria to ensure that they know what they want to do, by when and at what level of quality. They should also determine what to do in order to exceed their Manager’s expectations.
All KRAs are not equally important or critical to the business. That is why, weight system is introduced here. Total weight is 100 for all the KRAs. Employee and Manager will jointly distribute the weight against each KRA based on their importance. High weight will be given to those that directly align with business priorities and cascade down from the business head.

Employee will identify tasks against each KRA and mentioned in the appropriate column in the performance plan.

This part will be initiated by the employee and completed with consultation of the respective supervisor by January and submitted a copy to Human Resources Division by 1st week of February.

Competencies/Skills Measurement

In this part, supervisor will rate the employee’s competencies level based on specific factors as follows:

Performance ratings: A+ (95-100), A (80-94), B (60-79), C (40-59), C- (20-39)

8.8 Percentage of staff in the Different Performance Category

Maximum points will be considered as outstanding performer and may be eligible to receive a good percentage of bonuses based on the last year performance.

Minimum points will be considered as poor performer but an average bonuses will be eligible to him which may make him/her to be more efficient in next year to get highest.

Note: Above will be decided by the board based on the individual performance in line with his/her KPI achievement.
SECTION I: 9.0

Compliance and Internal Legislation

9.0. Disciplinary Action

Disciplinary action is taken against an employee who has violated a Company rule or whose performance has deteriorated to the point where corrective action is needed. The Company has clearly defined rules of conduct in the Company. These rules are expected to protect individual's rights as well as those of the groups.

It is the responsibility of all employees to maintain rule and regulations of the Company. However, the line Managers should educate their employees and motivate them to maintain orderliness within the Company.

9.1. Objectives of Discipline

- Ensure a congenial atmosphere in the Company.
- Punish the wrong doers.
- Develop respect for human beings and human relations to create favorable atmosphere.
- Create feeling of tolerance and mutual cooperation among individuals.

9.2. Causes of Disciplinary Actions

Generally disciplinary actions in are taken for two reasons:

- Conduct/poor job performances that have significant adverse effects on an employee's work. Absenteeism, insubordination, and negligence are examples that can lead to discipline.
- Misconduct/actions that indicate poor citizenship. Examples include fraud, theft or dishonesty in connection with Company business or property.

9.3. Approaches to Disciplinary Actions

Bay Agro Industries Ltd. follows two possible approaches in connection with disciplining the employees. They are:

- Progressive discipline.
- Positive discipline.

9.4. 1. Progressive Discipline

Progressive discipline starts from minor actions to severe actions depending on the nature of offenses. This usually begins from warning steps, followed by a show cause, and as the undesirable behavior persist subsequent punishment severity increases.

There are series of Management interventions under this approach. The interventions give an employee the opportunities and time to correct undesirable behavior before being separated immediately.

A progressive discipline system has 5 steps. If the offense is minor, it may start from the first step. If the offense is serious in nature then such misconduct can result in the elimination of several steps and sometimes even begin at the last step that is immediate separation.

Examples of misconduct are: disorderly behavior, falsifying employment records.
Progressive discipline procedures have the following steps:

- Verbal warning.
- Formal Show cause letter
- Written warning Letter
- Suspension.
- Immediate separation/Termination.

9.4.2. Positive Discipline

Positive approach can be viewed as a constructive activity. This is designed to encourage the employee to act in a positive manner on the job. The objectives of such disciplining are two-fold:

- Retain valuable employee in the Company.
- Change the employee’s behavior in the future.

To have effective positive discipline a Manager's understanding, patience, and counseling skills are now required, if he/she is going to be a successful endeavor. By changing employees’ behavior both the employee and the Company will be benefited.

Positive approach facilitates development of willing adherence to rules and regulations. Employee adheres because they have understanding, belief and support. Positive discipline takes the form of positive support, reinforcement of improved behavior, and in needed, punishment may be applied for improper behavior.

Positive discipline is a procedure that encourages employees to monitor their own behaviors and assume responsibility for the consequences of their actions.

Which approach will be followed in a particular case depends on the situation, degree of misconduct and in such case Management decision is the final.

9.4.3. Principles of Disciplinary Actions

The following principles will be taken into consideration while undertaking disciplinary action:

A fair hearing when people have been accused of rule violation-when someone has been accused of having violated an existing rule and regulation, he/she wants an opportunity to have his/her side heard and to be given fair consideration.

Disciplinary action will be taken in private.

Disciplinary action will be applied by the immediate supervisor.

Promptness is important in taking of disciplinary action-If punishment is delayed too long, the relationship between the penalty and the offensive act becomes hazy. The penalty not only loses its positive effect on behavior but also seems to stimulate greater resentment.

Consistency in the administration of disciplinary action is highly essential.

An immediate supervisor will not be disciplined in the presence of his/her own subordinate.

After the disciplinary action has been taken, the Manager should attempt to assume a normal attitude towards the employee.
9.5. Misconduct

Any conduct that is deemed to be inconsistent or incompatible would constitute an act of misconduct.

Misconduct may be of minor or major types. Which type of misconduct merits what type of disciplinary action rests on the discretion of the Management.

The following acts and omissions are treated as misconduct, as per section 23 (4) of Bangladesh Labor Law 2006:

- Willful insubordination or disobedience.
- Theft, fraud, dishonesty in connection with the Company’s business or property.
- Taking or giving bribes or any illegal gratification in connection with his/her employment under the Company.
- Habitual absence without leave or absence without leave for more than ten days.
- Habitual late attendance.
- Habitual breach of any government law or rule or regulations or of the Company.
- Riotous or disorderly behavior in the Company offices.
- Habitual negligence or neglect of work.
- Falsifying, tampering with, damaging or causing loss of Company’s official records.

9.6. Disciplinary Actions Procedures

According to Section 24 of Bangladesh Labor Law 2006, no order for discharge or dismissal of an employee shall be made unless:

- The allegation against him/her is recorded in writing.
- He/she is given a copy thereof and not less than 7 days’ time to explain.
- He/she is given personal hearing if such a prayer is made and.
- The employer or the Manager approves of such order.

An employee charged for misconduct may be suspended pending inquiry into the charges against him/her and unless the matter is pending before the Court, the period of such suspension shall not exceed sixty days.

There are seven sequential stages that are required to explain the above-mentioned four criteria:

9.6.1. Issuance of Charge Sheet/Show Cause

Once a written allegation against an employee stating the offense is received, the authority reviews the merit of the offence and issues a charge sheet, which is also known as show cause notice, to the alleged employee.
The charge sheet must be issued by a person who has the punishing authority (Line Manager, organization Head/HR) in which the following aspects must be present:

- Specific date, time, and place of the incident.
- Necessary particulars of the misconduct.
- Quoting of the relevant section of the Act.
- The accused is asked why disciplinary action will not be taken against him/her and he/she is given a minimum of 3 days’ time to explain/respond
- Mentioning that action will be taken ex-parte if the accused does not respond.

9.6.2. Consideration of the Explanation

The accused employee may or may not submit his/her explanation. If he/she submits but does not admit the guilt, the matter has to be investigated. If he/she does not submit his explanation, this has to be investigated. If he/she admits his guilt, and asked for mercy, Management may take minor actions like warning, suspension, etc. against him/her without inquiry. However, formal inquiry is advisable when any of the situations arises:

- The accused admits the offense (because accused may admit the offense under pressure. The Court may ask the Company to justify allegation. Also others may be involved).
- The accused does not explain/respond.
- The Company is not satisfied with the explanation given in response to the show cause notice.

9.6.3. Notice

This notice must be issued to the accused to enable him/her to defend his/her case adequately, which may be issued by the Management/HR at least one week in advance. The notice of inquiry must specify:

- Date, time, place of inquiry.
- The name(s) of the inquiry officer(s)/committee/board members.
- Indication that in absence of the accused in the proceedings, decision will be made ex-parte.
- Asking to bring any witness in support of his side.

9.6.4. Actual Holding

This is the most important step of the disciplinary action. The purpose will be:

- To punish the right person.
- Give the accused an opportunity to defend.
- To follow the principles of natural justice.
- To reveal others involved in an offense.
- To allow and satisfy legal requirements.
9.6.5. The Roles of the Members are:

- To investigate a complaint or charge.
- To gather facts as much as possible.
- To verify facts and to ensure that they are facts not rumors.
- To determine who are the material witnesses for the Company Management.
- To obtain statements from the witnesses of the accused and to check the validity of any facts that may arise.
- To study the scene of the incident, if necessary.
- Should be through in his/her work without being offensive.
- Avoid bias in the investigation.

Ideally, the investigation should be completed within one official workday, however, for exceptional situation it may be held for more than one day.

9.6.6. Proceedings

The inquiry officer reads out the charges against the accused and explains the charges and asks the accused whether he understands the allegation. In case the accused admits the guilt, no need to question the witnesses, but if he/she does not, proceedings will begin.
