2.6 Key Responsibilities Performed during Internship tenure:

HR Shared Service: As an Intern I was a part of HR Shared Service team of Banglalink. HR Shared Service is a new concept in the industry and this concept is getting popular day by day. This concept is used to carry out operational (backend) activities by many organizations in recent times. It is a realignment system which is used to reduce the costs through economies of scale from centralization of services, which can lead to better quality outcomes through increased customer focus, and through the implementation of technology, it can obtain easier and user friendly delivery.

HR Shared Services is basically a systematic Approach where the activities involved are available and shared among a number of parties in an organization. Banglalink has recently used this approach that is mostly done with the common services which are operated in the organization. For example a variety of activities can be carried out in shared service, like the administrative tasks, recruitment and benefits administration, providing information or consultancy, providing professional support etc.

Banglalink has used the Shared Service concept because of three important reasons. These are:

- Cost
- Quality
- Organizational change

Since Banglalink is mainly focusing on reducing the number of Employees to minimize the cost and largely going through an organizational restructuring process the Shared Service concept goes well with the organization. The system of Shared Services has improved the overall quality of service, and made the organization more customer focus HR team. On the other hand this concept can bring more professionalism, achieving greater consistency and accuracy in terms of results both in completion of work and with specific budget. It also helps in collecting information and processing information timely. With the introduction of Shared Service Team in Banglalink this organization has been performing actively than before said by the Hear of Shared Service. (Md. Mahbub Alam, Head of HR Shared Service)
Responsibilities:
As a part of HR Shared Service Intern, my primary duty was on the project named: Voluntary Separation Scheme and System Migration. This project was a part of Banglalink’s Restructuring process. The Personnel file audit was carried out because Banglalink is going to switch to Oracle File System in near future. Therefore, as an Intern I had to prepare the soft copy Employee file known as “Master file” in MS Excel with the synchronization data from HITS and keep it in System. Along with this main project my other job responsibilities were:

- Preparing Employee Personnel File with Checklists
- Employee Personnel File audit: Auditing each file as per Employee Personnel File checklist as guided by the Line Manager
- Data entry from Employee Personnel File to HRIS by proper authorization from Line Manager
- File archiving and soft copy uploading in the system
- Working on System Migration and helping Line Manager with employee personnel data
- Helping the line Manager in new employee Joining process
- Data Deletion and Data input in HITS with proper authorization from line Manager

Besides my primary duty, I was also responsible for the VSS project which is the Voluntary Separation Scheme, where employees took a handsome amount voluntarily and left the organization. Here in this project along with my Line Manager I have prepared the whole process so that the exit is smooth and hustle free. Moreover, Banglalink also gives the opportunity to Inters to work with other department. In the Department rotation process I had the opportunity to work with B2B Sales, known as Corporate Sales. Here I have worked on SIM Management a total of 8000 Sims with Corporate Sales teams. This task thought me a little bit of corporate sales technique. In addition I have got the opportunity to work a volunteer on Employee Night of Banglalink held on 3 February at Bangabandhu International Conference Center (BICC).
Chapter 3.0 Project Part

3.1 Introduction of the Project:

To run an Organization efficiently every organization needs support from different departments, and HR and Administration department is considered the heart of the organization. The reason of being the heart of the company is because they work with recourses, skills and create policies. Similarly HR Department of Banglalink is the core of the organization, where HR sets Standard policies and plays an important role of Banglalink Digital Communications Ltd.

This study will focus on the Policies of Banglalink and satisfaction level of Employees regarding Employee Welfare Policies of Banglalink Digital Communications Ltd. Banglalink Digital Communications Ltd is strongly committed to support their employee betterment, Career growth and physical well-being so they have Employee Welfare Policies and HR team functions different policies in this regard. The policy systems of HR and Administration and different roles will be discussed briefly in this paper.

Companies keep on making new policies and improving their standards in order to increase Employee satisfaction and retain them or decrease turnover while devoting additional resources to chasing new ones. It would appear sensible to explore Banglalink’s Welfare Policies in relation to level of Employee satisfaction. Thus, the objective of this study is to assess the relationship between the levels of Employee Satisfaction and HR Policies.

The level of Employee satisfaction survey has been conducted at Tigers Den the Head quarter of Banglalink and the survey is collected directly from the Employee. Questions focus on level of Employee satisfaction in terms HR Polices like: the ambience/cleanliness, taste and quality of food, Leave Policies, transportation, Compliance, Work environment etc.

3.2 Problem Statement:

-To determine the level of Employee Satisfaction regarding Employee Welfare Policies of Banglalink Digital Communications Limited.
3.3 Purposes of the Project:

The purpose of this study is to investigate the Policies of Banglalink, their role in an employee’s tenure and to find out the employee Satisfaction level regarding Employee Welfare Policies of Banglalink. To find what policies exist, a brief analysis has been discussed in the organization profile. Besides, to measure the level of Employee Satisfaction a Survey has been conducted as discussed earlier. The main two objective of the report are:

- To find out the HR Policies of Banglalink
- To find out the employee Satisfaction level regarding Employee Welfare Policies of Banglalink

3.4 Limitations:

This study was limited to the assessment of welfare policies in terms of management activities, cafeteria administration, work environment, facilities, leave policies, training, career planning, compliance etc. The assessment is done during the beginning of 2017. Although this research was carefully prepared, there are some limitations which are as followings:

- The main limitation is the collection of information because most of the information is confidential. To maintain the companies confidentiality Banglalink cannot provide me with all the information that I need for the report purpose
- Another major limitation of the research is the number of respondent participation in the survey. It was very challenging for me to collect the survey as the company policy does not encourage it. So the population in the study was rather small as I was given a limitation of 45 employees, who do not represent the majority of the employees in the huge Organization.
- The research was conducted in a very short period of time which wasn’t enough to attain sufficient data for an accurate study.
- Another challenge that I have faced is besides preparing the report as an intern I had to work like an employee, so the focus on the research was limited due to this.
- This research does not give a bigger picture of the Organization.
3.5 Significance of the study:

The result and findings of the study will be beneficial and can be used by the HR and Administration of Banglalink, students and for future research. This Study will provide the information on the level of Employee Satisfaction, and lacking of policies so HR can review them to fulfill the gap.

To the students, they will know the policies and roles of HR of Banglalink from where they can gain information.

Result of the study could also be a basis for further research in the same topic, as such will be a source of additional information to future researchers.

3.6 Literature Review:

Literature review serves as an indication of related literatures, articles, journal papers, books etc. In this research paper I have used related journal papers, book referrals, articles etc.

Theoretical Framework:

There are many theories that describe the job satisfaction. Among them the famous two factor theory of Frederick Herzberg's describes how job satisfactions can be measured. (Yusoff, Kian, & Idris, 2013) This theory is also known as Motivation-Hygiene theory. To determine the level of satisfaction and dissatisfaction in an employee’s job there are two factors that contribute. One of them is the “Motivation factor” and another one is the “Hygiene factor”. These factors are described below:

- Hygiene: Hygiene factors are considered those factors for example salary or pay systems, policies of a company, management practices and the overall working conditions in an organization. When these conditions are not well off then it can increase the level of dissatisfaction of an employee. If these policies suits an employee then he or she (employee) will be satisfied about his work and organizations.
Motivators: On the other hand motivators or motivation factors are those for which an employee gets motivated towards their work. These factors are considered the inner force that drives individuals to attain personal and organization goals. For example: they are achievement in work that an employee receives, recognition, promotion opportunities for advancement or career progress, a sense of responsibility etc. These are intrinsic to the job as well as these factors brings job satisfaction. If an employee is given adequate responsibility where he/she can implement his/her skills, and gets recognition for the work so this achievement will motivate the employee to work harder.

Review of Related Literatures:

Many literatures, journal articles, documents have been published on Employee Welfare policies. Among them some are reviewed in this section. According to the journal of (Nisar, et al., 2017) the major purpose of this paper was to find out whether pay system had influence in job satisfaction among the teacher of University of Punjab. In this research the researchers considered three major factors which were pay systems, work environment, and association between pay scale and job satisfaction. The results concluded that, the job satisfaction of the University teacher was extensively related with their pay satisfaction. Therefore, work environment, pay scale are related with the HR policies and these are also a major part of Employee Welfare policies that can directly affect the level of Employee Satisfaction regarding an organizations policies.

Another Study on Employee Welfare Measures which was done with Reference to Small Scale Industries at Hosur, Tamilnadu, where the researcher (Ravi & Raja, 2016) found out that, In the Industrial relation Employee Welfare is an important fact. Here the researcher said that even good wage cannot give satisfaction to the workers. This study was carried out at Hosur in small scale industries, where Welfare programs were intended to promote the physical, psychological and general well being of the employees. The results were found out from the canteen facilities, medical facilities and other fringe benefits, which indicated that the employees were neutral towards the facilities provided by the company. So the researchers concluded in their paper that, the welfare measures are one of the factors for the workers to stay in an organization for a longer period of time and work hard to bring success for the organization.
Similarly the research paper written by Uttam kumar Das and Prof. (Dr.) J. K. Panda includes that, employee Welfare policies include various facilities and services in the work-place for the better life of the employees in an organization. It includes both statutory as well as non-statutory activities. For a company to run efficiently employees satisfaction is very important. In their paper they have included that, an employee will only be satisfied when he gets what he expected form the job and the organization. Here welfare policies are considered an important issue because now a day’s employees look for other facilities too along with good wages. In the article it was found that, most of the workers were dissatisfied because of the welfare policies. So an improvement and modification in those policies can increase the level of satisfaction among the workers in that organization. (Das & Panda, 2015)

Thus, it can be said that, many article, journal papers, web documents have been published where the researchers found out an organization’s welfare policies can affect the level of job satisfaction of an Employee.

Table 21: Demographic Factors *source: primary data

After a comprehensive review of Banglalink’s Employee Welfare policies and analyzing the data it can be said that only two factors where employee dissatisfaction level is higher. These are the Cafeteria service policy and the Training provide to their employees. Some measures can be taken to minimize the dissatisfaction level. In the recommendation part some measures are given which Banglalink can consider in minimizing the gap.
Chapter 4.0 Recommendation

Recommendation is considered as an important feature of the research paper where it can serve as a medium of further analysis or research.

- Firstly, from the survey results it has been found that most of the employees are dissatisfied with the cafeteria service so some necessary steps can be taken to increase their satisfaction level. Such as: Varieties of menus can be served so that employees have more option to choose their meal. From that survey it has been found that some respondents suggested re-launching the breakfast service can be an option to increase satisfaction level among employees. Lastly having different vendors for different week can be considered in decreasing the dissatisfaction level.

- Secondly, the training that is provided by the organization is insufficient which has been found from the primary data. Most of the employees are dissatisfied with the training facility. To increase the satisfaction level Management should review the training material, tools and provide sufficient on the job training to the employees. Monthly training sessions can be arranged reviewing the requirement for training of each department. Off the job training can also be used for different departments. This training will increase the efficiency level of employee as well as it will increase the productivity level of the organization.

- The third recommendation is for the Insurance Policy of Banglalink. Although majority of the employees are satisfied with the policy but few employees have given their opinion in the survey that, parents should be covered in the medical insurance policy.

- Lastly Banglalink should try to increase the employee engagement systems. This will help the employees to maintain a harmonious relationship with their Line Manager, Co-workers, good relationship with other department. As a result employees will be engaged with the ultimate goal of the Organization.
