

Home > Young Observer

Events

BRACU celebrates 'Bosonta Utsab' with underprivileged children

Published : Thursday, 22 February, 2018 at 12:00 AM Count : 75

Retaining the Bengali tradition of welcoming the first day of spring, BRAC University (BRACU) celebrated "Bosonta Utsab" with underprivileged children on Tuesday, 13 February, 2018, says a press release. BRACU in association with Office of Co-curricular Activities (OCA) organised this programme at BRACU auditorium of its Mohakhali campus. Pro-Vice Chancellor, Professor Ansar Ahmed, Ph D inaugurated the event. Treasurer and Registrar, Shib Narayan Kairy was present. The programme started with a puppet show, followed by Bangla folk music, art competition and cultural function for the children. The children were provided with red t-shirt along with quality refreshment. To project the full essence of spring and Bengali culture, a daylong fair was arranged. Glass bangles, different types of clay pots, clay jewelry as well as accessories were on sale in the fair. Another attraction of the event was Pitha Utsab. The whole venue was given a festive look, decorated with colourful flowers, mostly yellow and orange. Students and faculties of BRACU wearing traditional clothes of early spring participated in the event with great enthusiasm.