

Afrin wins FameLab Bangladesh 2019

, Mar 24, 2019

ASM Afrin Bin Nur Adib receives FameLab Bangladesh 2019 award from posts telecommunication and information technology state minister Zunaid Ahmed Palak at a programme in Dhaka on Saturday. — New Age photo

ASM Afrin Bin Nur Adib of department of naval architecture and marine engineering at Bangladesh University of Engineering and Technology became the winner of the national finale of FameLab Bangladesh 2019.

He became winner beating fourteen finalists at the competition held at a city hotel.

He will travel to Cheltenham of the UK to represent Bangladesh in the international competition.

The British Council hosting the FameLab in Bangladesh since 2018 took the competition to the divisional hubs of Sylhet and Chattogram other than Dhaka.

State minister for posts telecommunication and information technology Zunaid Ahmed Palak attended function as the chief guest.

British high commissioner to Bangladesh Robert Chatterton Dickson, and education ministry senior secretary Sohrab Hossain were present as special guests.

Representatives of the British Council were also present during the event.