

June 25, 2015

BULLETIN BOARD

Sunrise Summer Camp launched

The 1st 'Sunrise Summer Camp' kicked off on June 13, 2015 at American Standard International School in Gulshan, Dhaka. The summer camp will run from June 13 to August 15, 2015.

Children (of age 5 to 12) will be experiencing an enriched, creative and educational programme which includes origami, yoga, science experiments, clay modelling, sports, reading, painting competition, cooking and much more. Students from schools like Scholastica, BIT, Manarat, Sir John Wilson, DPS, Sea Breeze, Shaheed Anwar are taking part in the summer camp.

Anisa Haq, Programme Head, BRAC University, Institute of Educational Development formally inaugurated the Sunrise Summer Camp. Lori Imdad, Principal of ASIS; Zia Imran; Lubaba Kamal, Founder of Sunshine Summer Camp; children and parents were present at the inauguration.

Lubaba Kamal, founder of the initiative, believes that every child is different and has different interests. Being engaged in different recreational activities boosts their confidence and helps them to realise their undiscovered talents.

This camp will provide a lot of such opportunities for participating children to be physically and socially active during their summer vacation. The summer camp has already received a huge response.

The summer camp is being supported by American Standard International School, Dhaka. For more information, write to